NEW BRITISH-ITALIAN NEGOTIATIONS START

Two Killed In Plane Crash At Regina To-day

R. J. Groome, Veteran Pilot, and A. J. Sims, Student, Lose Lives in Accident Witnessed By Fifty Men of R.C.M.P.

BODIES TAKEN FROM WRECKAGE

Canadian Press
Regina, Sept. 20.—R. J. Groome, Regina pilot, and Arnold J. Sims, a student, were killed instantly when the plane in which they were flying at the Regina airport crashed about 3.30 this morning. Pilot Groome was well known throughout the west, having been located in Regina for about fourteen years.

Sims was from Strasbourg, Sask. He was twenty-four years old. The fatal dive was witnessed by a group of fifty Royal Canadian Mounted Police who were training on the open prairie under Corporal C. W. Anderson.

"The plane," the corporal said, "appeared to be about 200 feet high when we first saw it. It did not seem to be in trouble, but appeared to be nosing down too rapidly. Then we saw it was crashing and we galloped to the scene. I judge we were about half a mile away."

The bodies of Groome and Sims were taken from the wreckage and a telephone message was sent from the airport, about half a mile away, for an ambulance.

Medical men arrived not long after the bodies had been removed. Both men were badly broken up in the crash.

Pilot Groome was granted the first Canadian license in 1920 in eastern Canada. He had been operating a student school in aviation and had done considerable commercial flying, especially recently, in the Far North.

He was born in Saskatchewan near Regina, was thirty-eight years old and leaves a widow and two small children. He was a reserve officer in the R.C.A.F.

Pilot Groome trained with the Canadian Air Force in Texas.

Severe Quake Recorded Here

Disturbance as Bad as 1923 Japanese Disaster Thought Near New Guinea

An earthquake, the intensity of which was as severe as that of the tragic Japanese disturbance of 1923, was recorded on the seismograph at the Victoria Observatory last night. The first tremors reached the instrument at 6 o'clock and recording continued for six hours.

P. Napier Denison, superintendent of the Victoria Observatory, estimated the epicentre of the disturbance as 6,300 miles. With the aid of the distances reported by observatories in Washington, D.C., and Sydney, N.S.W., he was able to place the epicentre as just north of New Guinea.

Sydney, Australia, Sept. 20 (Associated Press).—Earthquake shocks were recorded to-day at the Riverview Observatory, reported by the Reuters News Agency to be more severe than those in the New Zealand 1931 earthquake disaster.

The epicentre of to-day's shocks was estimated to be 2,150 miles from Sydney, probably in northern New Guinea.

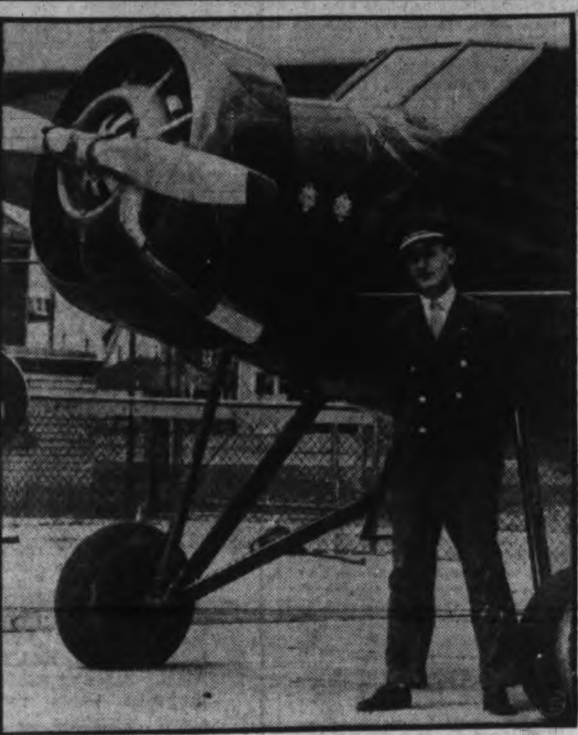

Washington, Sept. 20 (Associated Press).—Two severe earthquakes, probably in southeast Asia, were recorded to-day by seismographs at Georgetown University.

The first shock began at 9.05.53 p.m., E.S.T., and reached its maximum about 10 o'clock. It overlapped a second, less violent shock, which reached its maximum intensity at about 1.40 a.m. and ended at 3.15 a.m.

Both shocks were believed to have originated at some point about 8,700 miles from Washington.

BODY IDENTIFIED
Vancouver, Sept. 20 (Canadian Press).—A body found floating off Ferguson's Point, Stanley Park, has been identified as that of George A. Fish, fifty, who disappeared here some time ago.

Plane in Which Fight Took Place

It was in the cabin of the above monoplane that the struggle took place which resulted in the death of Len Koencke, Brooklyn Dodgers ball player. A manslaughter charge against Pilot W. J. Mulqueeny, above, and Irwin Davis, left, a parachute jumper, was dismissed in Toronto to-day. A picture of the late Len Koencke appears on Page 2.

FOUR DEATHS IN FIRE IN PARIS

Canadian Press from Havas
Paris, Sept. 20.—One of the worst conflagrations Paris has seen in years caused four deaths to-day in the Rue de la Croix Nivert, in the southwestern part of the city. Three other persons were seriously injured and two slightly.

LIQUOR NOW MADE ISSUE

Temperance League Asks Prohibition Vote; Moderationists Want, Beer, Wine

With two requests now before it, the Provincial Government will shortly get down to consideration of the liquor issue in British Columbia. This was indicated to-day following an interview between Rev. R. J. McIntyre of Vancouver, secretary of the B.C. Temperance League, and Rev. W. R. Brown, chairman of the local branch, and Attorney-General Sloan, in which the temperance advocate requested that if the question of selling beer and wines in eating establishments is put to a vote the entire question of liquor control be also tested.

Recently the government received a huge petition from the Moderation League seeking to have beer and wine sale permitted in Victoria. Mr. McIntyre said he was informed the government had reached no decision yet on the beer and wine question.

Mr. Sloan intimated the whole matter still must be considered by the cabinet.

More Conciliatory Tone Toward Britain Reported In Rome Official Circles

Direct Negotiations Between London and Mussolini on Italian Troops Movements in Libya Stated to Be in Progress as Reports Say Italy Will Not Flatly Reject League Committee's Plan for Ethiopia But Will Suggest Substitute as Basis of Discussion at Geneva; War Munitions Shares Fall in Price on Rome Stock Exchange

Italian Proposal Against Sanctions

Associated Press
Geneva, Sept. 20.—Italian quarters informed the Associated Press to-day that direct negotiations between Great Britain and Italy have already begun or will begin soon on what Britain considers the Italian menace to Egypt through Libya.

The concentration of Italian troops in Libya along the frontier of Egypt is believed in League circles immediately to explain the British naval moves in the Mediterranean.

Great Britain is said to see a menace to Egypt in the move of Mussolini's legions to the border of Egypt, and also objects to Italian propaganda in Egypt calculated to undermine British prestige there.

Britain therefore wants Mussolini to order his Libyan armies away from the Libyan frontier. The report is that if Mussolini will accept the British proposals, Britain would reduce the present strength of the Mediterranean forces.

This news was believed here logically to link with the latest reports from Rome that Il Duce has postponed until next week his projected protest to the League of Nations against the presence of the British armadas.

Canadian Press from Havas
Paris, Sept. 20.—The Geneva correspondent of The Echo de Paris said to-day he had learned from a well-informed source that Premier Mussolini again was sounding out the British government. He has proposed Italy stop massing troops in Libya near the Egyptian border if Great Britain will agree not to use military sanctions against Italy.

GAS MASKS SOLD AT ALEXANDRIA

Associated Press
Alexandria, Egypt, Sept. 20.—An Egyptian store offered gas masks for sale to-day in an illustrated advertisement in the newspaper Al Ahrar. The masks were priced at sixteen shillings, six pence (about $4).

STOCKS SLUMP ON WAR TALK

Much Nervousness Both on This Continent and in Europe

Securities markets slumped under sporadic waves of nervous selling in principal United States and European cities to-day, as financial centres kept anxious eyes trained on Rome and Geneva, according to Canadian Press and Associated Press dispatches.

The New York and London Stock exchanges were sharply lower, subject to occasional rallies. Some British government bonds in both markets dropped $1 to $1.50 per $100 par value, and prices of Italian issues crumbled more rapidly.

New York Stock Exchange shares declined $1 to $4 under an early selling wave, with some brokers reporting heavy offerings from Europe. Prices stiffened in Wall Street, however, after the close of foreign markets.

ITALIAN PRICES BREAK
Securities prices broke sharply in Rome and Milan, in response to the Italian cabinet's decision for a huge war loan and heavier taxes. The Berlin and Paris markets were nervous, with prices tending lower.

In markets for materials used in large quantities in war, copper continued a strong feature, with the export price of American red metal advancing to a new level for the past two years for the fifth successive day.

Marine insurance rates were hoisted sharply in New York, with representatives of various firms in almost constant conferences discussing war risks.

Italian Papers Less Belligerent

Associated Press
Rome, Sept. 20.—A slightly more conciliatory attitude toward Great Britain was displayed to-night in government circles and the press, but a high authority said Premier Mussolini will protest to the League of Nations Council against the "concentration" of British naval forces in the Mediterranean.

War munitions shares fell heavily on the stock exchange, although other shares held firm or advanced. For example, the stock of the Iva Company, which manufactures guns and war products, fell 7½ points and the stock of the Fiat Company, which includes machine guns and tanks in its products, fell 16 points.

UTTERANCES TONED DOWN
Premier Mussolini's newspaper, Popolo d'Italia, toned down its recent utterances to declare:

"To say that Italy intends to menace the British Empire along the Nile or Red Sea is absurd. Italy recognizes the British rights on the sources of the Nile, and with regard to the Red Sea, Italy has occupied a position there for fifty years, which she began in collaboration with Great Britain."

GREAT WAR RECALLED
An appeal was addressed to Great Britain by the newspaper Giornale d'Italia, reminding that nation of Italy's intervention in the Great War on the side of the Allies. The newspaper, which had directed many spirited attacks on Britain in recent days, asserted that Italy's war alliance saved the British Empire and France 600,000 lives, the total of Italy's war dead, and was an important factor in the final victory.

UNREST IN FRANCE GROWS

Premier Laval Returns to Paris From Geneva and Summons Cabinet

Associated Press
Paris, Sept. 20.—The possibilities of a war in Africa and unrest in France brought Premier Laval home from Geneva to-day to summon a plenary cabinet meeting for to-morrow.

What, if any, sanctions France will be prepared to take against Mussolini is Laval's chief problem.

Hardly less important is the rising tide of internal troubles which has threatened to force him to tie his hands for a firm stand at Geneva.

"The alarm and growing restlessness at home is undoubtedly responsible for much of Laval's hesitation to take a strong stand at Geneva," an official said.

"With the assurance of a united country behind him a strong attitude would be possible."

Sales Policy Is Needed For Canada's Wheat, Declares King

Liberal Leader, Addressing Brandon Audience, Calls For Strong Majority in New Parliament to Meet Problems of Dominion

Brandon, Man., Sept. 20.—Liberal Leader Mackenzie King, who yesterday evening launched his election campaign in western Canada with a speech here, to-day was traveling westward, with a meeting in Saskatoon scheduled for this evening.

In his address yesterday evening the Liberal leader said Canadian wheat growers need a "sales policy." In dealing with wheat he took credit to his party for the provision in the wheat board bill for a minimum price.

MAJORITY NEEDED
Another declaration by Mr. King was that conditions at present were not only critical for Canada but for the whole world. Any Canadian government in the next five years would have to have a solid majority behind it if it was to grapple successfully with Canadian and world problems.

The people should not be carried away by promises, but should concentrate on getting a strong government backed by a united party.

(Turn to Page 2, Col. 5)

BALLOON MISSING
Associated Press
Warsaw, Sept. 20.—The fear was heightened in both French and Polish circles to-day that the French balloon Maurice Mallet, an entry in the Gordon Bennett international race, had crashed in the Baltic Sea close to Latvia. Rumors of the crash have been persistent.

AGED MAN WORKS
Ligon, Ont., Sept. 20 (Canadian Press).—William Humphrey of Alwood, eighty-nine, is still working at his trade of wagon and carriage maker. He will be ninety years old March 20.

Airmen Freed At Toronto of Charge Based On Slaying

THINK COAST PACKER LOST

South Seaman May Have Sunk With All Hands Aboard Theory After Discovery

Fears that the Vancouver fish packer, South Seaman, may have sunk outside St. John's Island, with Captain Gerald B. Hamilton of Fulford Harbor and his crew of three aboard, were contained in radio advices received yesterday by provincial police headquarters.

Late yesterday afternoon the department here was notified that four gasoline drums, identified as belonging to the South Seaman, had been picked up at Aldrich Point on Prince Island.

Later, a fisherman reported he had seen oil bubbles coming to the surface of the water just outside St. John's Harbor and it was these facts that gave rise to the theory that the packer may have struck a snag and sunk with all hands on board.

Provincial police launches, the P.M.L. 8 and P.M.L. 9, scoured the south shoreline of Milbanke Sound yesterday without results. They also consulted the lighthouse keeper at Ivory Island, who reported he had not seen any boats in the vicinity.

The police are also continuing their search for trace of the thirty-foot troller Claire, owned by Lorne Edgington, which left Seymour Inlet last Friday, bound for Port Hardy, and has not been heard from since. With Mr. Edgington are his sister, Mrs. Burt Duncan, and her husband from Nebrask, who were returning from a holiday trip.

The Prime Minister had a busy two days in the city he adopted as home some thirty-seven years ago. Yesterday he addressed a luncheon, at which he and Archbishop Richardson of Fredericton, N.B., discussed some aspects of the relations between Dominion and the Motherland, he received unanimous endorsement as Conservative candidate in Calgary West, and he addressed a mass meeting.

Highlights of Mr. Bennett's speeches yesterday included the declaration of his belief the Canadian wheat surplus would probably all be required by the nations of the world, that the government had not lost any money on its operations designed to protect the wheat market, and that it was the hope of the government that the forthcoming conversion loan bonds would bear 2½ per cent interest coupon. The conversion loan, he said, would be voluntary.

Magistrate Dismisses Manslaughter Count Against Pilot W. J. Mulqueeny and I. Davis of Detroit; L. Koencke, Ball Player, Declared Killed in Self-Defence

Canadian Press
Toronto, Sept. 20.—The manslaughter charge against Pilot William J. Mulqueeny and Irwin Davis, Detroit airmen held in connection with the airplane crash of Len Koencke, Brooklyn National League baseball player, was dismissed to-day by Magistrate Douglas Keith.

A coroner's jury yesterday evening found that Mulqueeny and Davis killed the twenty-seven-year-old Dodger outfielder in self-defence after Koencke had started a fight in the plane Mulqueeny was piloting. Magistrate Keith said he agreed with the jury's verdict.

"Through all the evidence I can find no indication of criminal intent," he said. "In view of this I am acquitting these men and they are to receive their immediate freedom."

Mulqueeny and Davis were not called to the stand to repeat the story of their "nightmare" ride from Detroit.

Federal Candidates Now Total 695

Toronto, Sept. 20.—To date the nominations in all provinces for the House of Commons total 695, as follows: Liberals, 250; Conservatives, 195; C.C.F., 119; Reconstruction, 121; others, 46. There are 245 seats in the Commons.

More "Siamese Twins" Prove Seer's Prophecy for Year 1935

Siamese Twin Squash and Twin and Triplet Bananas Back Astrologer's Prediction of Plant Freak Year

This appears to be the Siamese-twin year in the plant world. The editorial rooms of The Times have been invaded by these strange freaks. First there were two Siamese twin dahlias, then a Siamese twin apple and plum.

Yesterday W. T. Trant, 2568 Rosario Street, brought up a perfect Siamese-twin Hubbard squash, and to-day workers down on wholesale row discovered not only a Siamese-twin banana, but also a Siamese triplet banana.

But strange as it may seem, this was all predicted by astrologers and other students of probabilities. For example, there was the forecast of Old Moore, parts of which were

Changes Likely In Health Bill

Insurance Plan Will Probably Start on Greatly Simplified Basis With Fewer Benefits and Smaller Contributions Than Maximums Provided, Says Minister; Replies to Criticism of Doctors

As he replied to-day to criticism of the British Columbia public health insurance scheme by medical men, Hon. G. M. Weir, Provincial Secretary, made it plain that the initial draft bill now the subject of representations by numerous groups, was subject to modification wherever this is found necessary.

In a formal statement, he said: "It is probable that at the beginning the plan will be greatly simplified, fewer benefits will be offered and the contributions considerably reduced."

He explained the draft was intended to serve as a basis for discussion. Full opportunity had been offered for interested parties to make suggestions for improving the scheme and the entire plan was subject to thoroughgoing revision. At present it provides for comparatively large benefits and correspondingly large contributions.

Labor Would Put End To Section 98

Trades Congress of Canada Declares For Removal of That Clause From Criminal Code

to-day by the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada.

The convention adopted a resolution declaring the section "unduly" restricted "freedom of speech and assembly."

There was no debate and the decision was unanimous.

Another resolution passed declares the federal government should have full responsibility for caring for the unemployed. There should be one central authority, it is

"The aim of the health insurance measure," he stated, "is to enable a certain percentage of our population to receive the medical benefits which they are unable to obtain individually and also to systematize the burden of sickness costs which, under present conditions, fall with excessive severity on the individual at a time when he is least able to pay."

To show how health insurance was viewed by the medical profession in Great Britain, where it has been in effect for a long period, Dr. Weir made public excerpts from a letter written him by Dr. Alfred Cox, former secretary of the British Medical Association, this month.

These were as follows: "I am confident that on the whole the effect of national health insurance in this country has been to provide a better medical service for a very large proportion of our population. I speak not only as the former medical secretary of the British Medical Association, but as a man who for twenty years was in general practice in a big industrial area, and saw how large numbers of the population either did not get the medical attendance they ought to have had, or got it spasmodically through medical charities. Under our present system nearly all these people can now command the services of a family doctor."

"The medical profession has not yet fully grasped that the future of medical practice is going to lie on the preventive side, and you cannot have a proper system of preventive medicine when the doctor is paid only when the patient is ill. He has very little inducement to try to keep his patients well. They don't consult him for that purpose, mainly only going to him when they are actually ill. Therefore on broad national lines it seems to me fundamental that we should aim at interesting the doctor in preventive medicine, and this will best be done by letting him see that it will pay him better to keep his potential patients well."

"The medical men are resentful of any so-called 'lay interference.' This is a question to which I have had to give a great deal of attention during the last twenty-five years. I approached it with suspicion as regards lay interference, which has been almost entirely dispelled by the gradual improvements in our procedure."

"His (the doctor's) financial position, in the industrial areas particularly, has been stabilized. As regards his position of influence with his patients that, in my opinion, depends not on any system of payment but on the personality of the doctor. Good doctors will always have the respect of their patients; as regards the indifferent, only regard their profession as a laborious means of making a living, they would probably remain indifferent under any system."

The report of the proceedings at the B.C. Medical Association convention appears on page 3.

With the two divergent views on the liquor question now formally presented, it is expected to become a leading issue before the Legislature meets again. Last session it was indicated the matter would be opened, but members were so thoroughly split in their views that no attempt was made to force it.

UNREST IN FRANCE GROWS

"Now he is forced to think of France's international obligations in the light of its internal situation."

TAX REVENUE STRIKES

The growing seriousness of the internal situation is shown in the income tax collections of less than 500,000,000 francs (about $80,000,000) up to July 31 of this year, compared with 4,600,000,000 francs for the same time a year ago.

The restlessness of the farmers and the discontent of the functionaries of the decree laws and the opening of the old right-left fight over fascism and on the Italo-Ethiopian question have added to the cabinet's troubles.

PRINCE RUPERT DRYDOCK SOLD

National Railways Dispose of Shipyard to Mutual Paper Mills

Ottawa, Sept. 20.—Sale of the floating drydock, shipyards and lands at Prince Rupert, B.C., formerly owned by the Grand Trunk Pacific Development Company, to the Mutual Pulp and Paper Mills of Prince Rupert Limited has been authorized by the Dominion Government. It was announced to-day.

The pulp company pays $600,000 for the property and forfeits a subsidy arrangement whereby the government had paid the development company $76,970 annually for operating the drydock and shipyard. The subsidy had seven years more to run. The pulp company undertakes to continue the operation of the drydock and shipyard and to build a pulp mill. It is stated the mill will be used for the manufacture of rayon. The sale is from the Canadian National Railways, present owners of the property.

Clashes Between Crete Factions

Athens, Sept. 20 (Associated Press).—The newspaper Prios said to-day trouble was brewing on the island of Crete, where Greek republicans were reported threatening royalists.

HARBOR CLOSED AT GIBRALTAR

Gibraltar, Sept. 20.—The last open part of the harbor was closed with iron nets to-day as the British cruiser Exeter arrived unannounced from the West Indies. Authorities strung the webbing of iron nets across the north mole viaduct at the entrance of the harbor.

It was learned from unofficial sources new air force units are expected here shortly.

RUMORED WAR DATE IS OCT. 10

Diplomats in Rome Mention That Day For Italy's Move in Ethiopia

Associated Press
Rome, Sept. 20.—When will the Italo-Ethiopian war start? The question—now that the inevitability of hostilities is a virtually accepted fact—sounded through Rome's tense diplomatic corridors to-day.

Various dates were suggested, but most diplomatic circles picked October 10 as the most probable.

The fact the tropical rainy season still persisted in the highlands of Italy's colony of Eritrea and in Ethiopia was considered generally to preclude an immediate beginning of hostilities.

TROOPS SAIL

Rome, Sept. 20.—Italy drove ahead with warlike preparations in her East African colonies to-day.

Ten steamships took on loads at Naples for immediate sailing to East Africa, bearing troops. Three of them were set to sail immediately, and all to clear port before Monday.

SHIPS UNREPORTED

Port Said, Sept. 20.—The whereabouts of a number of Italian ships which left Genoa as long ago as September 7 to-day excited speculation when it was revealed none of them has yet reached the Suez Canal.

The time allowed for the voyage is between five and six days. The Piemonte, the first to leave Genoa, cleared September 7. The Cesare Sarnio, Italia Aquilone and the Calabria, which left between September 13 and September 14, also have yet to appear in Suez waters.

The undisclosed whereabouts of the ships and their failure to pass through the Suez Canal were taken in military circles to mean there is a heavy concentration of troops in Libya, Italian north African colony.

PLANES AT ISLAND

London, Sept. 20.—The Athens correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Company to-day reported twenty-five Italian bombing planes with a supply of stores had arrived at the Italian island of Leros in the Dodecanese group.

The island is reinforced by a string of airdromes and underground chambers, the dispatch stated. Reports have reached there during the last several weeks that the Italian forces in the Dodecanese Islands and turning them into hospital bases.

Italian Papers Less Belligerent

Associated Press
Geneva, Sept. 20.—Certain French sources here said to-day they believed Premier Mussolini would not give flat "no" to the League of Nations' committee plan for settlement.

"Although this view was not shared unanimously by the French, one of them said: 'Premier Mussolini may reply, 'Your plan is idiotic, but I am willing to discuss some other one.' There were unofficial reports that Premier Laval of France may arrange to see Il Duce at Stresa, Italy, next week, and that Salvador de Madariaga of Spain, chairman of the Italo-Ethiopian committee, which drew up the compromise proposal, might also try to see the Italian leader."

RETURN OF TROOPS

A report circulated in League quarters that Great Britain seeks a pledge from Il Duce that he will bring back the major part of his army from northwest Africa, and that he will pledge that there shall be no talk of League penalties against Italy in the event of war with Ethiopia.

From a high source came the declaration de Madariaga's committee does not believe there can be a modification of the "framework plan" presented to Italy and Ethiopia.

It was stated that since this is merely a skeleton scheme, both disputing parties must accept it at least as a basis for negotiations, or they would get nowhere, and that any modification must be made after a preliminary acceptance.

WARSHIPS IN MEDITERRANEAN

Armored ships in the Mediterranean loomed over the calculations of the delegates, discussing the feasibility of any sanctions involving an economic blockade.

News of the British warships and their whereabouts was scrutinized eagerly during informal conversations.

Salvador de Madariaga reported to his colleagues that Baron Pompeo Aloisi of Italy had not yet rejected the Council group's suggestions.

Associated Press

Addis Ababa, Sept. 20.—Emperor Haile Selassie told the Associated Press to-day:

"We cannot make any political, economic or territorial concessions to Italy without compensation, nor can we give Italy bribes in any other form to purchase immunity from attack."

He made this statement while reviewing thousands of modern equipped warriors who clattered past him on mules and Arabian horses.

He was referring directly to the League of Nations plan for a compromise settlement of the Italo-Ethiopian dispute submitted to him from Geneva.

"If we did make such compromises, we would invite other attacks in the future," said the King of Kings. "As an independent, sovereign empire, we insist on the preservation of our economic integrity, and the inviolability of our frontiers."

"We have committed no act which

LOST HIS LIFE IN FIGHT IN PLANE

LATE LEN KOENECKE
A coroner's jury in Toronto yesterday evening cleared Pilot W. J. Mulgoney and I. Davis of blame, saying they were acting in self-defence when Koenecke received the blows which caused his death.

In law or morals justified Italy in menacing us with war. We have come before the bar of international justice with clean consciences.

"Let mankind judge us on our record. Let no pretended leader of Christendom attempt to crucify an innocent people crying out for justice and mercy."

CIVILIZING METHODS

The Associated Press correspondent asked "Premier Mussolini says he wishes to civilize Ethiopia. What does your majesty say to that?"

Waiting until the brass band heading his marching troops had ceased playing the national anthem, Haile Selassie said reflectively:

"God forbid that Italy should give us such a civilization through the instrumentality of war. One is the negation of the other."

"Our civilization is one in which Christ Himself lived. If it was suited for the greatest man of all time, it is good for us."

"By this, I do not wish to say we oppose social and economic progress. Such progress has continued and will continue with all the rapidity compatible with the political, intellectual advancement of our people within our limited financial resources."

SAY ACTION ANTICIPATED

Rome, Sept. 20.—An authoritative source to-day said Premier Mussolini had instructed Baron Aloisi, Italy's chief delegate to the League, to call the Council's attention to the situation created by the British reinforcement of their regular Mediterranean fleet as constituting a threat of war.

Baron Aloisi is also to state, it was said, the British actions are equal to an anticipation of League action against treaty violators and therefore are in violation of the principles of the League of Nations.

BASIS OF DISCUSSION

An Italian government spokesman said to-day there still was a possibility the League compromise proposal might serve as a basis for the discussion of the Italo-Ethiopian situation provided the proposal was considerably modified.

He said the spirit in which the proposal was formulated must also be modified, characterizing the spirit as "unfriendly."

Premier Mussolini meanwhile became sole interpreter for Italy of the international war code to-day, assuming the position legally to answer any attacks on his Ethiopian campaign.

A decree, signed by King Victor Emmanuel, was interpreted in informed circles as placing Mussolini in a position to strike immediately—and with the full weight of Italian law—against any nation which attempted to judge Italy under "antiquated" rules of war procedure.

S. J. Levy Of Vancouver Dies

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Sept. 20.—S. J. Levy, manager-director of Brighouse Park, prominently associated with horse racing in British Columbia for fifteen years, died to-day in the Vancouver General Hospital.

A native of Elizabeth, N.J., Mr. Levy had been a resident of Vancouver more than thirty years. He came west as a boy in the late '90s and, while the gold rush was at its peak in the Yukon, decided to try his luck there. Subsequently he engaged in the fishing and canning industry near Vancouver.

Gifted with a rare sense of humor, he could hold an audience spellbound while he told of experiences and hardships endured by prospectors in the Yukon rush. One of his most interesting stories was of his efforts to reach the Yukon and how the sailing ship, on his return journey, sailed almost half way across the Pacific before finally landing at Seattle.

CANADIAN LABOR IS FOR SANCTIONS

Canadian Press
Halifax, Sept. 20.—League of Nations sanctions against Italy were called for to-day by the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada to halt Premier Mussolini's invasion of Ethiopia.

The congress, representing 165,000 workers, pledged itself to its annual convention to support sanctions, and urged the League to adopt them against the aggression nation. Mussolini's "rapacious" attack on Haile Selassie's people must be halted, it was stated.

CONSTRUCTIVE VOTE WANTED

Alan Chambers Given Good Reception at Northfield and Brechin

Nanaimo, Sept. 20.—"If you think I haven't got the backbone to stand up against my leaders don't vote for me," was Alan Chambers' answer to a questioner at last night's Northfield meeting when the insinuation was made that if he were elected as federal member for Nanaimo riding he would have to take orders from the Liberal leader.

At both Northfield and Brechin, where Mr. Chambers also spoke, the attendance was large and everyone took a keen interest in the meetings, during the question periods especially. One old-timer at Brechin remarked that not in the last twenty years had he seen such a large attendance at a political meeting.

Asked as to his proposals regarding relief camps, Mr. Chambers advocated turning them into real construction camps putting the men on a fair wage with beneficial work to do; otherwise abolish them altogether.

A strong plea was made that a constructive and not a destructive vote should be cast on October 14. Having pointed out his policies Mr. Chambers asked: "Are we going to have control over our national credit or are we going to continue to labor for a mere pittance while we allow a privileged group to control the currency and credit of the country for their own benefit?"

Miss Grace Modell, chairman at Brechin, Murray Berzonsky, chairman at Northfield, and Joseph Nicholls, spoke highly of the qualifications which Mr. Chambers possessed to fit him as representative of the common people and of the good work he had done in organizing the Twentieth Century Liberals.

Sales Policy Is Needed For Canada's Wheat, Declares King

Mr. King's address here was delivered in support of J. E. Matthews, Liberal candidate in the Brandon constituency.

He told his audience the wheat board as now constituted, with a fixed minimum price, was due to the actions of Liberal members of Parliament, while the Bennett government had been responsible for holding wheat back from world markets at a time when it should have been sold. He said all parties in the Commons had been anxious to do what was right for western Canada, and the Conservatives were entitled to no special credit for the wheat board.

COMMITTEE PLAN

"The bill passed the House of Commons unanimously," said Mr. King. "The original bill as introduced by Mr. Bennett contained no provision for a minimum price, but the bill which has passed has a clause providing for a minimum price. The provision came to be there as a result of the representations and efforts of the Liberal members on the committee to which the bill was referred."

For weeks and months before the government introduced the bill, said Mr. King, the Liberal members had been discussing and considering the wheat situation and when the bill was introduced they were not satisfied with it. They also wanted to know particulars of what had been already done by the government and kept all matters relating to wheat a dark secret.

"I want to Mr. Bennett," said the Liberal leader, "and told him the only way in which a bill could be passed was by referring it to a special committee. I said all parties united in order to do what was right for western Canada and proposed the committee."

The committee drafted a new bill which received the support of all Liberal members.

CHANGES FORESEEN

The bill was not necessarily a permanent arrangement, said Mr. King. It was one of those measures which had to be taken to deal with the emergency which arose in time of distress. With a Liberal government in office, applying sound trade policies the present depressed situation would clear up and the producers would in time be able to deal with their own products as they chose without looking to the government for aid.

SALES NEEDED

"What is needed now in connection with wheat is a sales policy," he went on. "We feel wheat has been held back on the market of the world at a time when it should have been placed on the markets."

Argentina and Australia were able to sell their wheat and at the same time take steps to assure their producers a fair return. Canada should have been able to do the same. Instead of having great quantities of wheat in our elevators now when a new crop is coming in that wheat would have been sold and the people of the west would have been much better off."

OPPORTUNITIES LACKING

Bad conditions in western Canada were due not only to drought, grasshoppers and rust, but to restriction of trade, said Mr. King. He felt particularly aggrieved at the lack of opportunity offered to youth who now could find no gainful occupation. Many of them were forced into relief camps, where they were made to feel they were not part of Canadian life at all.

A way must be found to gain an

TO END CAMPS

"And no more slave camps," shouted an interrupter.

"Yes," said Mr. King, "and no more of these camps under the National Defence Department."

For some time to come, said Mr. King, relief from the public treasury would have to be given the unemployed, but by inaugurating long-range policies of trade expansion such continuance would not be necessary.

Mr. Matthews, the candidate, addressed the meeting, as well as J. A. Glen, Liberal candidate in Marquette. Hon. D. G. McKennie, Minister of Agriculture of Manitoba, introduced Mr. King.

More "Siamese-twins" Prove Seer's Prophecy For 1935

printed in The Times at the beginning of the year. In his almanac he definitely set down 1935 as a year to be marked by a large number of Siamese-twin and other freak growths in the plant world, due to astrological conditions.

The Siamese-twin squash, according to Mr. Trant, developed from two separate flowers on the one plant. They grew together over their entire length, leaving only the two stalks separated.

"Anyone who takes an interest in horticulture knows this is a year exceptionally prolific in unusual vegetable and other plant forms," Mr. Trant said.

The Siamese-twin and triplet bananas have a single stem each, but the ends are separate. Both of them have single skins, though they fold around the fruit. When the skin was torn off, the edible part of the banana was also seen to be joined along the whole length.

UNEMPLOYMENT PROBLEM

In considering unemployment one had to draw a clear distinction between unemployment as an incident to industry in all normal times due to changes in methods and unemployment due to some temporary abnormal condition, whether domestic or international, Mr. King said. Mr. Bennett had now approached the problem in an attitude of defeatism. He had assumed all unemployment was permanent.

The Liberal Party proposed to keep the distinction clearly in mind. It believed means would have to be provided on a permanent basis to relieve normal unemployment. For abnormal or emergency unemployment there should be a national commission which would coordinate the methods of relief already established, but would also inaugurate a policy of work and wages.

Whatever works were undertaken should be such as would fit into a scheme of national development. Wages should be paid throughout on that Koenecke wanted to die a spectacular death. He was disappointed over losing his job with the Brooklyn ball club and had been attempting to drown his sorrow in whisky.

"He felt he had been cheapened by being put off the St. Louis-to-Detroit plane for misbehaviour and was angry with his two pals, Bobby Barr and Les Munns, for going on to New York without him."

GREETED BY FRIENDS

Freed at once, Davis and Mulgoney went to a downtown hotel with friends. They had been kept in jail without bail since landing the plane on a race track near here early Tuesday morning.

INQUEST VERDICT

The verdict returned by the coroner's jury yesterday evening read: "We, the members of the jury, find the deceased came to his death on September 17 from injuries sustained from blows from a fire extinguisher in the hands of William J. Mulgoney and Irvin Davis in self-defence."

Shortly before the jury retired, undisclosed details of events leading to the fight with the ball player in which the pilot and Davis, a parachute jumper, engaged, were related privately to the late Len Koenecke's brother, Herman.

STOP RESTLESS NIGHTS

Keep your kidneys free from waste matter, poisons and acid, and put healthy activity into kidneys and bladder and you'll live a healthier, happier and longer life.

One most efficient and harmless way to do this is to get from your druggist a recent box of Gold Medal Haxium Oil Capsules and take them as directed—the swift results will surprise you.

Besides disturbed sleep some symptoms of kidney trouble are backache, most pains, leg cramps and puffy eyes. If you want real results be sure to get GOLD MEDAL—the original and genuine—a grand kidney stimulant and diuretic—right from Haxium in Holland. Give your kidneys a good cleaning once in a while.

GAIN MADE IN CANCER STUDY

Associated Press
New York, Sept. 20.—One stumbling block to likely leads in seeking the causes of cancer was reported cleared up in the American Journal of Cancer yesterday.

This lead was the peculiar use cancers make of sugar. Cancer tissues produce from glucose large amounts of lactic acid, one of the body's fatigue chemicals.

Discovery of this fact some years ago was greeted as a hopeful sign, but its follow-up was blocked, because no extract from cancer was found capable of producing lactic acid.

Discovery of a method to do that was announced in yesterday's journal by Frederick H. Scharies, M. Dwight Baker and William T. Salter, of the Collis P. Huntington Memorial Hospital, Harvard University.

The lactic acid is produced when an extract of mouse cancer known as mouse sarcoma 180 is mixed with hexophosphates.

"The finding of lactic acid production from hexophosphates," the report states, "presents an opportunity to study in detail the type of carbohydrate metabolism peculiar to tumors."

Canadian Press
Montreal, Sept. 20.—"The importa-

Lorne Webster declared in a statement yesterday in reply to claims made in Quebec city Wednesday evening by Hon. H. H. Stevens.

The Reconstruction Party leader told an election meeting at Quebec Senator Webster controlled the coal business of Montreal and Quebec, and exercised a monopoly.

BENNETT ON WAY TO COAST

The Prime Minister struck out savagely at those "vested interests abroad," some members of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, newspapers and the Liberal Party in general, who he said had conducted a vicious campaign against the government's grain policy, "initiated in the interests of you western grain growers."

FEDERAL INTERESTS

Earlier yesterday the Prime Minister had told delegates to the Conservative convention they should not confuse provincial with Dominion interests in the forthcoming general election.
Their votes would be cast for Canada as a whole and not for one province alone.

In the exercise of their democratic rights the people of Alberta had voted recently and secured the government their votes indicated they desired.
"All right," Mr. Bennett said. "Give that government a chance. If it does not satisfy you can turn it out. But a vote in this election will not be a vote for Alberta or for social credit. It will be a vote for every citizen in every province of Canada."

THE NOMINATION

Mr. Bennett's was the only name to go before the open convention.
Mayor Andrew Davidson, who is Conservative candidate in Bow River, addressed the meeting. William Parslow, who came to Calgary in 1888 and has been associated with Mr. Bennett since the latter came to Calgary in 1897, moved the nomination, which was seconded by Mrs. Murray Lister.
Explaining his duties would not allow him to go among the electors of his own riding as he would desire, Mr. Bennett said he hoped they would return him to Parliament.
"I admit frankly," the Prime Minister said, "I would hate to think that nearing the end of a long career I would be rejected by those among whom I have lived, struggled and toiled so many years." Being Prime Minister was secondary to representing his constituency. The former was the automatic elevation of the leader of a party, successful at the polls; the latter came from the confidence, fellowship and goodwill of the men and women with whom I have so long been associated."

He had no personal ends to gain, no ambitions to satisfy, Mr. Bennett said. "If I did not think the party I represent was better able to serve you than any other, I would not be here," he said. "I have no personal ambition but I would like it to be that when the time comes for me to retire I will still be your representative in Calgary West."

NOT BOUND FOR 'ISLAND'

Rumors at 1: would "seek a seat in another country" were referred to by the Prime Minister. They were not true, he said. He recalled Sir Thomas White having once remarked,
"I will always think of you as 'Bennett of Calgary.'"

"It rests with you," the Prime Minister said, "whether after October 14
I shall continue to bear that proud designation."

DICTATORSHIP DISCUSSION

Discussing charges that he aimed at a dictatorship, Mr. Bennett declared no act of his government in the last five years had failed to secure the endorsement of Parliament.

Speaking of references by election speakers to "a gang down east who are sitting up nights contriving methods of keeping you people in the west from getting your hands on a dollar," Mr. Bennett asked "Where do you think the money came from that we have advanced to these western provinces?"

RETIREMENT AT SIXTY

Mr. Bennett cleared up one point on which there had been conjecture since his radio announcement. His plan to pension workers at sixty includes no compulsion.
There never had been any idea of a compulsory retirement of those reaching the age of sixty so as to make way for the employment of younger men, the Prime Minister said. The proposal was to make it possible for such retirements on a voluntary basis.

Development of Canada would open up opportunities for youth and would require skilled and trained workers.
Depression had meant that many children had been deprived of the educational facilities they would normally have enjoyed. It was proposed to make technical training available to those who had suffered through the inability of their parents to secure normal employment.

ATTITUDE TOWARD WAR

Yesterday evening, fulfilling a request for a statement of the government's attitude toward war, Mr. Bennett quoted what he had said on that subject in his first radio broadcast two weeks ago, and said he had nothing to add at the present.

He urges citizens to respect the principles of free speech.

the Liberal Party, the Conservative

C.C.F. Party and the Communist Party that the law with regard to preventing rowdiness and general disturbances in public places is going to be enforced public statement yesterday.

Italy's Problem Stated Economic

Dean of Canterbury Expresses His Views in Toronto

Canadian Press
Toronto, Sept. 20.—Tail, smiling, sixty-one-year-old Very Rev. Hewlett Johnson, Dean of Canterbury, said here yesterday that Italy's real problem was an economic one and the trouble with Ethiopia would never have arisen if social credit policies had been applied in the Fascist country.

"Mussolini, like Hitler," said the Dean, here on a transatlantic lecture tour, "has made many promises to the people that because of the lack of funds are now found to be impossible to fulfill."

"Consequently I think must take the people's minds away from the internal problems of their country, so he fills them with a glorious vision of colonial expansion."

The theory that Italy's population was so large it must have room to expand was "merely a side-issue," Italy does not have to expand any more than China or Japan and both of those countries desire not additional territory but more trade, he said.

The dean said his job was to act as an interpreter and explain in simple words exactly what Major Douglas's scheme means.

NEW THEORIES ARE ATTACKED

Conservatives Claim Social Credit and C.C.F. Plans Not Ready

Conservative speakers at a meeting in Oaklands School yesterday evening explained why they thought neither the C.C.F.
nor social credit would work in Canada.

D. B. Plunkett, the candidate in Victoria riding, said that wherever there were C.C.F. adherents there were Communists.

"We must see," he said, "that revolution does not sneak up on us like a thief in the night, fomented by residents in Canada who, in many cases, have entered the Dominion illegally."

If the C.C.F. plans were carried out, hundreds of Canadians would lose their hard-earned businesses and would have to exist on charity, he claimed.

He declared the Regina riots were fomented by Communists.

After alluding to the Liberal platform as one of "false promises," Mr.
Plunkett appealed on the ground that the Conservatives stood for security for Canada.

B. D. Harvey, the next speaker, said the C.C.F. did not exist as a Dominion factor outside of British Columbia. While he respected clergymen, he did not think they were practical men, very often being unable to run their own affairs.

Economic conditions on the island were not as bad as C.C.F. followers tried to make them out, he continued.
Increased building figures throughout the country, and other indices of improving business refuted the idea
the Dominion was going to the dogs."

He said the Bennett government would be remembered as one of the greatest governments in the history of Canada.

Patrick J. Sinnott cited numerous figures to prove that even if industries were taken over purely for public benefit the individual share would amount to only a few dollars a month. The theories of the social creditors and C.C.F.'ers would not work out, he maintained.

The relief camp system, while not to be approved, was better than the slavery of the Soviet Union, he asserted.

TUBERCULOSIS FIGHT

Dr. G. J. Wherrett of Ottawa, secretary of the Canadian Tuberculosis Association, in a brief address, said the death rate from tuberculosis in Canada had been reduced by two-thirds in the last quarter century. He paid a tribute to the work of Dr. W. H.
Hatfield in British Columbia.

CITY TO BE BENEFICIARY

G. I. Warren Says New Highway Association Will Increase Tourist Business

George I. Warren, Victoria Publicity Commissioner, on his return to the city yesterday evening from attending the formation of the Washington Coast Highway Association in Aberdeen on Wednesday, which has undertaken the task of improving the United States Highway 101, between the Columbia River and Fort Angeles, states that Victoria may well afford to have an optimistic outlook on increased tourist travel next summer due to the formation of this organization.

Representatives from every community along the Coast highway were present. Mr. Warren was elected as an advisory director, and at the same time a vote of thanks was extended to the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau for its activity in directing travel over Highway No. 101.

Victoria's publicity commissioner in speaking before the organization told of the activities of this city in advertising for tourists, which resulted in a 20 per cent increase in tourist travel over the previous year.

Mr. Warren declared that Victoria was the Canadian terminus of highway 101, the scenic highway between Southern California and Canada. The speaker ended by saying that this famous highway had all the advantages necessary to make it the outstanding tourist attraction of North America.

Mr. Warren on his return yesterday from the meeting, says the organization plans to launch an immediate drive to improve the road, remove dangerous curves and lend assistance for the construction of a new portion of road between Astoria and South Bend, and also plans to highly publicize the route.

Carl Morck of Aberdeen was elected president of the association, and P.
W. Mathias of Hoquiam as secretary.

WOODSWORTH IN SASKATCHEWAN

Canadian Press
Hudson Bay Junction, Sask., Sept.
20.—There was need of immediate relief for persons in Canada who were destitute, J. S. Woodsworth, leader of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, told an audience here yesterday evening.

There was plenty of food to meet the necessities of the people, Mr.
Woodsworth said, but a great financial "octopus" had captured the wealth and government of the country. His party was pledged to smash it. Socialization of currency and credit was vital, he declared.

THIS INTERDEPENDENT WORLD

THE ITALIAN-ETHIOPIAN CRISIS PRE- sents the third graphic illustration in recent times of the sharp contraction of the world within the last half century. The first was the Great War which broke out in 1914 with a local conflict between Austro-Hungary and Serbia, and which eventually involved almost every nation on earth. The second was the economic depression which still prevails. Virtually all of the principal powers now are accelerating war-like preparations because the Italian dictator, finding the ground crumbling beneath him in his own state is trying to preserve his leadership by staging a Roman military holiday at the expense of an East African principality.

It was not very long since the military adventure of a European country in Africa was regarded by the rest of the world as an incident of minor significance and importance. The aggressor simply agreed with other powers which had colonial ambitions that it would not object to similar excursions by them if they did not interfere with its own policy of the moment. The developments scarcely reached the headlines of the newspapers, while most people did not even know where the scene of operations was. When Italy invaded Abyssinia nearly fifty years ago the world in general paid little or no attention to it. Now, a prospective similar performance has created a far-flung crisis.

The chief cause of concern for Great Britain and France in the present situation arises basically from their early colonial adventures in Africa and Asia. Italy has aroused the hostility of countless millions of people in colonies held by those and several other European nations, largely by the stupidity of her statesmen in drawing the color line in attempting to justify her course. The vast population of India, the numerous groups of blacks under British, French, Belgian and Portuguese authority in Africa are expecting their rulers to protect the independence of the African state. Even Japan resents the implications of the Italian case. If those European powers do not use all efforts to protect the integrity of Ethiopia, there may be serious consequences in their colonial empires. To this possibility such things as competition in economic concessions and investment of capital are subordinate. The focal consideration is much bigger than that.

Were it not for the danger of a wide repercussion in India and Africa, the world could afford to watch Italy's attempt at a Roman conquest in Africa with comparative equanimity, for no matter whether Italy won or lost the outcome would be the end of Mussolini and probably the present Italian dynasty. The conquest and ultimate subjugation of Ethiopia would be so costly that the backwash would be precisely the same as that which swept out Dictator Rivera and finally the monarchy of Spain, even though the Spanish army had managed to subdue the Riffs, who were a short distance away and whose numbers were negligible in comparison with the army of Haile Selassie. The discontent of the returning Spanish soldiers became a festering sore on a public which had to pay for the campaign through the nose, and very shortly afterwards Spain was in the throes of a revolution.

The cost to Italy in blood and treasure of trying to subdue a country as large as British Columbia, with limited facilities for transport, unfavorable climatic conditions, and much more remote than Morocco, is from Spain, would be enormous. Whether Mussolini realizes this or not—and like most European dictators he knows little of the outside world—it is evident from what has been happening in Italy in the last year that he feels he is driven to desperate courses by the precarious prospects of his Fascist structure. There were 400 organized peasant uprisings in Italy last year. Wages are down and the cost of living is up. The country is poor in natural resources. Mussolini, in fact, is in a much more difficult position than Haile Selassie. Nor should it be forgotten that Italy has been very unfortunate, to put it mildly, in most of her wars within the last century and a half.

One silver lining in the cloud now hovering over Europe is the manifest determination of the League of Nations to enforce its covenants, reflecting the realization of its members that this institution is their best bulwark against aggression. The League may not prevent Mussolini from trying to become another Scipio Africanus, but its influence in the long run can ruin him and those who are associated with him, incidentally setting up a great white light, for the contemplation of other imperialists who otherwise might be crazy enough to emulate the martial activities of the Fascist dictator of Italy.

A UNIQUE CANDIDATE

THE NOMINATION OF HON. R. RANDOLPH BRUCE as Liberal candidate in East Kootenay adds a strong and colorful figure to the election campaign in British Columbia. East Kootenay, indeed, with Mr. Bruce opposing Hon. H. H. Stevens, should provide one of the most interesting contests in Canada.

Mr. Bruce is one of those unique characters which emerge from time to time from the pioneer life of this new land. He is a Scot who is never far from the skill of bagpipes and loves to wear the kilt. He comes of the breed that pioneered this province, helped to settle it and laid the foundations of its greatness. In East Kootenay, where he will seek election, few men have done more to develop the country and to provide a livelihood for its people.

In Victoria, Mr. Bruce is best known as one of the most popular Lieutenant-Governors who ever resided in Government House. Most of Victoria people knew his fine hospitality in those years, and no holder of this office has ever gone about the country more, studied its problems more deeply or got closer to the plain man. He is admirably equipped to represent the people of British Columbia in the House of Commons at Ottawa.

WHAT A TRIUMPH!

"No Canadian government ever faced the colossal task which confronted the Bennett government. No other leader could have triumphed."—An extract from a full-page advertisement "published for the Conservative committee" in The Vancouver Daily Province last Wednesday.

THE CLAIM THAT "NO OTHER leader could have triumphed" will strike a strange note on the ears of the Canadian public. On July 17, 1930, Mr. Bennett said at Stratford that "Mr. King's conferences on unemployment remind me of the famous saying of Marie Antoinette, Queen of France. When they told her the people starved for bread, she asked: 'Why don't they eat cake?'"

Said Mr. Bennett: "They ask Mr. King for bread and he gives them another conference." Let us take the Prime Minister of Canada to-day at his word, bearing in mind the above quotation from his speech more than five years ago, and see what he included in it. Here it is: "If you have unemployment in a country as young and as rich in resources as this, if you have such unemployment after ten years of one government, you can be perfectly certain that this government's policy is responsible for the result."

Mr. Bennett said that he would end unemployment or "perish in the attempt." To quote the advertisement of the Conservative Committee again: "No other leader could have triumphed." Take it at its face value. The facts are, and the government over which Mr. Bennett presides has issued the statements, that in 1930, there were 117,000 persons in Canada unemployed and that more than a million persons were drawing relief in one form or another last March.

How does this official statement harmonize with the Conservative Committee's statement that no other leader could have triumphed: could have done as well?

A WORTHY CAUSE

TOMORROW, THE DR. O. M. JONES Chapter I.O.D.E., will appeal to the public for funds with which to carry on its humanitarian work of distributing milk to ill-nourished children in the city schools. The difficult time through which we have been passing has led to an increase in the number of children needing this extra nourishment, at the same time making the women's task of raising the necessary funds harder than ever. The people of Victoria have always had a specially warm corner in their hearts for any cause designed to benefit the children, and The Times feels confident that tomorrow's appeal will meet with the customary generous response.

TRADE WITH THE UNITED STATES

THE HURDLE AT WHICH NEGOTIATIONS for a new Canadian-United States trade treaty balk is the Ottawa-empire pact of 1932, an elaborate framework of concessions by various members of the empire to stimulate trade among themselves. Washington wants to crush these pacts, but Ottawa holds it is bound by them, is also unwilling to sacrifice their advantages. Prospects for the treaty seem now to depend on Washington's willingness to modify its proposals regarding the empire pacts.

Mr. Bennett made the empire agreements in 1932 largely on the principle of giving concessions to countries willing to trade on equitable terms with Canada, but also on the principle of establishing permanent empire trade channels in substitution for inequitable and uncertain trade relations with the United States. Ottawa wants permanency for the widening of empire trade channels, especially because it considers—under the Bennett government, soon to be defeated—any reciprocity treaty with the United States would be of uncertain tenure.

When Dr. Lyle Telford criticized the Ontario Premier for coming out to British Columbia to tell our public how to run its affairs, he must have had his tongue in his cheek, because Dr. King Gordon, one of the candidates of the party of which he is a foremost spokesman, is a Montreal man who up to his recent arrival never had lived here.

Just Folks

by Edgar A. Guest

THE HOME-MAKER FAILS

They say she looked on marriage as a self-enduring bond which should continue here on earth and in the life beyond. That once the vows were spoken, if the man and wife were true, then neither one should worry—there was nothing else to do.

She trusted him entirely and no thought of wrong had she. But there were things besides his wife she thought she ought to be. So out on worthy ventures she began in time to roam, And serving noble causes she forgot to make a home.

She labored long for culture and for charity she toiled, But sometimes her husband's dinner was by hasty cooking spoiled. She had sympathy for others, but she never guessed or knew Just how many times her husband ached to share her pity, too.

I quarrel not with culture nor with lofty motives pure, I only know on these alone no marriage can endure. I only know what men are like—and this is truth. I write— They want their wives to welcome them when they get home at night.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

BACK TO THE JUNGLE

The Detroit News

Back to the law of the jungle goes Europe. What has become of all the good intentions with which the so-called radical proposal as reactionary and leading the close of the Great War, readily signed every sort of peace pact and treaty of arbitration placed before them?

"END POVERTY" IN ALBERTA

The Washington Post

Alberta, and not California, is to give us a demonstration in how to end poverty by bootstrap methods. A dramatic overturn in Friday's election has swept into power an evangelist and school teacher who offers more sweeping gratuities than either Dr. Townsend or Upton Sinclair.

Loose Ends

We find a warrior dying—The fires burn high—the witch dance goes on—the drum beats in the jungle—Spinster ladies obey a deep instinct—Prominent citizens hear the call—Smoky learns about osculation.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

WARRIOR

PILING CORDWOOD for the winter just now, we came upon a stout warrior, slowly dying. A month ago we should have been afraid to approach him, but as he lay on a piece of wood, numb and exhausted, we could come close and examine his fine armor, his sharp lance, the yellow and gold stripes on his body. An ordinary warrior, viewed closely in this way, is seen to be a beautiful thing, delicately built, stream-lined with a superb paint job.

A month ago he could have held his own with any mammal ten thousand times his weight and size. He could have driven off George Pudgebury's red bull, in the field yonder, with one thrust of his red-hot rapier. But he was powerless now, hardly able to move his legs. He had crawled away into the shelter of the woodpile to die like a gentleman, quietly, without display and without asking for sympathy. In a few more days those wings that used to make the air hum with a powerful beat, will never move again.

But he had a good full life. He probably crowded more experience and wider travel into it than you or I ever will. What exploration he made up there on the high rocks among vast fields of rock plants, flying over lofty peaks, dropping down to sip the water of those inland seas where the mighty water lilies grew and huge tropical fish, colored red, swam lazily in the shade. What perumed-jungles of flowers he discovered, where there in the perennial border! What feasts on the early plums, until he was so pleasantly gorged that he could only lie there on a half-eaten fruit and sleep blissfully in the sun! And what carousing and heavy drinking with the boys in the black berry patch, where the juice of the over-ripe blackberries was so strong that you could hardly crawl home at night on hands and knees!

A life full of hard work, gathering food for next year's wasps but full of pleasure, too, and free of all foolish worry about finances, economies, politics and posterity, and at the end of it no fuss, no mourning, no regrets; a life shorter than ours, as time is measured on the clock, but not much shorter and, on the whole, more satisfactory. We left him in the woodpile, lying in state like a warrior in his secret tomb, his good fight over.

HUMAN BEINGS

A GOOD MANY PEOPLE who fail to examine these things deeply enough, are annoyed at the curious human phenomena that occur at election time. (You will pardon, I hope, this mention of a subject which I had intended to keep out of here entirely, so that this column would become a sort of sanctuary from the current blizzard of politics; but I find that the fiery wind blows even in here and I cannot block up all the holes.) A good many people, I say, are annoyed by the curious human emotions released by a political campaign.

It annoys them to find what a blind and unreasoning and irresistible thing is partisanship. For five years a man may have taken no interest in politics, have scarcely read the newspapers and never understood what he read, but when the bugle sounds, he rushes to arms like a warrior, all his old passions aroused, all his ancient prejudices burning with a vehement flame, all his old quarrels with his party forgotten.

To-day, for example, I was talking to a prominent citizen who has been at odds with the Conservative Party for some years and who thought only a fortnight or so ago that it had no chance in the election, was hardly worth working for. I found him aflame with party zeal. The spark had touched him and he was all right.

When Upton Sinclair proposed in California to abolish poverty, this man said he was crazy. When Dr. Townsend proposed to pension off people who reached the age of sixty, this man thought he was a harmless idiot. Nay, he thought the moderate reforms proposed by the Patullo Government and Mr. McGeer were stark lunacy and bordering on communism. When the Tolmie Government was defeated he felt that the last prop had fallen from under our system. Mr. Bennett was his hero, because Mr. Bennett proposed to leave the existing system alone and not monkey with any radical ideas.

But do you suppose this man was alarmed because Mr. Bennett proposed to pension off everybody at sixty; because he has reversed the entire programme of his party without consulting it? Not in the least. He stood there solemnly on Douglas Street, this sound and prominent citizen, and assured me that Mr. Bennett's adoption of the Townsend Plan (which is stark lunacy in the United States) is sound Conservative policy over here.

I said that if Mr. King or Mr. Woodworth had proposed it, the thing would have been stark lunacy over here. The prominent citizen said, "Yes, if those fellows tried to do it, it wouldn't work. But when Bennett proposes it, it must be sound because Bennett is sound." He walked off aflame with the new conservatism, leaving a trail of black smoke behind him.

KEEP COOL

DO NOT BE ANNOYED with such fellows. Do not get mad when elderly maiden ladies, who don't know what the B.N.A. Act is, rush out in the next few weeks and canvass their friends to vote for Mr. Flunkett, who they have never seen, and tell you that Mr. Bennett has kept all his 1930 promises, of which they have no recollection whatever. Do not permit yourself a moment's distress when some aged fellow tells you to vote Liberal because he once shook hands with Laurier. Be kind to new-fledged socialists who denounce the capitalists and expect to be capitalists themselves the day after the election.

Do not be surprised that at a time like this the hot sun of politics can dissolve all a man's old beliefs, make him believe anything at all so long as the party leader says it give him a temporary sunstroke from which he will recover about Christmas.

Do not be surprised or annoyed. This thing you call mere partisanship and prejudice is deeper and more respectable than that. It is man's great basic need to believe in something, to stand by something, to fight for something. It is the noble instinct of religion in another form, the human necessity of a loyalty to something bigger than oneself, even though it be only the Townsend Plan. If those fellows couldn't believe that Mr. Bennett was partially divine, and that he had saved the country, they would be rudderless and lost. Destroy that faith and you undermine their whole character. Leave them embittered and apoplectic.

Few men are strong enough to stride through life by themselves, without the necessity of hunting in the pack, without leaning on some stronger fellow. Few can resist the primitive lure of the witch dance, which is going on throughout the land to-day, the throbbing of the cannibal drum which is beating from Victoria to Halifax.

To believe something without reservation, to get hold of something like a drowning man to a spar; to feel the comforting warmth of the pack about you—that is the urgent necessity of the human animal in times of trouble. The elderly agitators who rush about to tell their friends that only Mr. Bennett can save Canada for the British race are not interested in politics, which is a minor surface phenomenon at best, and purely artificial; they are obeying an instinct stronger than love. Let them obey it. Let prominent citizens dance about the fire and pound the jungle drum. It does them good. Few men have the courage to face the fact that the millennium will not dawn on October 15 even if their party is elected. Be sorry for them only, for disillusionment and agnosticism are just ahead. Never mind. The fires will burn and the drums will throb again in a few years and the jungle dance will new end.

KISSES

YOU KNOW our dog, Smoky," said the little boy from next door,

SIDE GLANCES

By George Clark

"Now listen, Boggs, there's no use trying to figure what Napoleon or somebody would do about this shipment of tomato juice."

holding aloft that object before my window just now, while its limbs sprawled in all directions, its pink abdomen pressed flat against the glass and its newly-amputated tail hung limp: "you know my dog, Smoky. Well, he's learned to kiss. That's funny, isn't it? You don't expect anybody to learn to kiss when they're just a young puppy, do you?"

"Well, he kisses a funny way, you know. He just up and licks you on the nose. Boy, is it keen! Well, it's useful sometimes to be able to kiss. You know what I got in my pockets now?" said he, emptying the contents thereof and revealing a dirty piece of string, several rusty nails, a small bottle that once held perfume, a broken knife, a round white stone (a very valuable specimen, this), and finally, at the bottom, two pieces of brown toffee, very sticky and fuzzy.

"Well, you see this toffee," Mrs. Glumby gave it to me. Every time I go down to her house, she's making toffee. I only go down the days she makes it. That's Tuesdays. I always ask when it's Tuesday and then I go down there to help her feed her chickens. Well, when Mrs. Glumby she gives me two pieces of toffee I have to give her a kiss. But when she only gives me one I don't give her one kiss. Well, I'd rather have the one piece and not kiss her, in fact. Maybe Smoky, he could kiss her after this. Trouble is, he's not allowed toffee but I could eat it for him." So I judge that Smoky is to do the kissing and his owner will do the eating, a thoroughly equitable arrangement.

Bing Crosby Is Not Yet Success

Many of His Dreams Remain to Be Realized, Says Crooner Actor

Laziest Man in Hollywood He Admits; Wanted to Be Baseball Star

This is the eighth of a series of life stories written by twelve film stars, pinch-hitting for Dan Thomas, The Times Hollywood correspondent, while he is on his vacation.

Sometimes it is a help to get an opportunity like this. Writing a column, I mean. It gives a chance to answer all at once a lot of questions that are continually being asked.

For instance, there is the one, "To what do you attribute your success?" That's all according to what you mean by success. I've done pretty well as far as money goes. I'm supposed to be more or less notorious as a screen star and radio singer. If that is your measure of success, then probably I'm successful.

But if I'm not, I just happen to be. I'm lucky enough to get paid for being able to sing. But getting a lot of checks for doing something I like to do isn't my idea of success.

I'll consider myself successful when I've done all the things I've always wanted to do. I want to own a yacht. I want to fish for tarpon off Florida. I want to take a trip around the world—just as a tourist. I want to see the world series every year, and the Kentucky Derby, and the Army-Navy game.

I want to qualify for the United States National Amateur Golf Tournament. I'd like to win it, of course, but I'm not counting too heavily on that.

NOT A SUCCESS—YET
I want to be a good husband, and have a fine family. I want to give my dad and mother a good home. I want to be able to do what I want, when I want to do it. Then I'll consider myself a success.

So, in my own estimation, I'm not yet successful. I've been lucky all my life—lucky to have good friends, to get good jobs, and to be boosted along without much initiative on my own part. A lot of people say I'm the laziest man in Hollywood, and I probably am.

I don't mean I'll deliberately shirk a job. I just don't go out of my way to find work.

I'm not a believer in "Kismet" or "fate" or anything like that, but I do believe that you get along better by letting things take their course than by running around and waving your arms.

When I was in college, studying to be a lawyer, a few other guys and I organized an orchestra, to make some money. I played the drums, and sang as a sideline.

GOES IN FOR RADIO
Pretty soon singing became my big thing, and I quit college. Al Rinker and I started singing in vaudeville, and we landed with Whiteman. Later we went with another orchestra, along with Harry Harris. The dance programme was being broadcast, so radio became my sideline.

Then I went in for radio exclusively. As a sideline I made a picture called "The Big Broadcast." And now pictures aren't a sideline, but my main business.

Actually, I'd like to do nothing but broadcast one programme a week, keeping out of picture work. But as long as Paramount wants to hand me those checks I figure I'd better stick around. I've got to get it while I can.

Before I do get out of pictures, though, I would like to play one straight comedy role. In "Two for Tonight" I get pretty close to it.

BASEBALL CAREER FOILED
And I'd like to make a baseball picture. When I was a kid I was a pretty good second baseman. If I do say so. But one summer I went logging for an uncle. They wouldn't trust me with the trees, and gave me a brush ax and sent me out to clear paths. A couple of weeks later I was back home again, with a bad gash just above each knee. I wasn't crippled, but I was slowed down.

In college I wasn't fast enough to play the backfield, so I went out for centre, and I made my high school letter-at-Gonzaga—on the football team.

If it wasn't for those ax cuts I might have been a big league instead.

Bing Crosby

of a singer, because I made baseball letters, too.

The only time I ever ran away from home, it was with the idea of becoming a ball player. I left Spokane and headed for Los Angeles. But I only got as far as Weed, up in northern California.

KNOWS PARENTS' WORRE
I was broke, hungry and homesick. So I wired my brother Everett in Portland, and he sent me some money to get home. That little experience has been invaluable to me. I got a lot of letters from mothers and fathers whose youngsters have run away from home. They tell me that the kids always listen to my programmes and won't I say something on the air?

Radio regulations don't permit that, of course, but sometimes I can put in a general plug about writing home, and know it helps. I've got letters to prove it.

If I hadn't run away from home myself, maybe I wouldn't know just how down and out a guy can get, and how much his family worries.

Next: Fredric March.

HOSPITALITY WINS PRAISE

Article Appearing in San Francisco Chronicle Commends Victoria

Allie E. Duffy, in her "By the Way" column on August 10 in the San Francisco Chronicle, is complimentary on the hospitality of Victoria towards summer visitors.

"Victoria is a good and thoughtful hostess," the writer says. "She does not receive her guests, as do most cities, in shabby, dingy back streets. She graciously takes the stranger immediately into the best room."

"She comes smiling down to the water front all dressed up, with her fine, wide, handsome streets; decked out in trees and lawns and such flowers as you have seldom seen before. She beckons the steamers close and they lie up at landings near the lawns of Government House, within smelling distance (for noses like ours) of the incomparable gardens of her great and famous hotel. Everything shines and is clean, and the heart is touched by such gracious hospitality."

"The visitor seldom, if ever, leaves Victoria without wanting to return. There is much in the city to delight and charm, but one remembers all her charms the more readily, the more affectionately, because of the rare welcome she has arranged."

NEW COMPANIES INCORPORATED

Seven new firms, including a new timbering venture, were granted incorporation papers by the British Columbia registrar of companies this week. The full list, announced yesterday, follows:

The Fries & Gormley Advertising Agency Ltd., $10,000, Vancouver. Hydrostatic Engineering Co. (Heco) Ltd., $100,000, Vancouver. Anglo-Canadian Importing Co. Ltd., $10,000, New Westminster. James T. Auld Ltd., $10,000, Vancouver.

Summit Lumber Co. Ltd., $20,000, Vancouver. Kinetic Motor Development Ltd., $10,000, Vancouver. Earlington Securities Ltd., $10,000, Vancouver.

The Fruitvale Co-operative Transportation Society was incorporated as a co-operative, and the Scotch Creek Flax Mines Ltd. (N.F.L.) took out extra-provincial papers, with office in Winnipeg and Vancouver.

The Monetary Times, Toronto, in its September 14 issue carried an editorial, entitled "Victoria Practices Self Help." The writer compliments Mayor Learning and the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau on their joint success in increasing the tourist business of Victoria.

The Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau is in receipt of a letter from the San Antonio Chamber of Commerce, stating that they had been informed by members that the Bureau publishes a fine highway map and requests that a copy be sent to them to be used as guide in the preparation of maps to use in Texas.

CLAYTON ESTATE CASE APPEALED

Mr. Justice Fisher's 75,000-word Clayton case judgment, which holds the record for length in recent years at least, will be carried to the Court of Appeal by Clarence Darling and H. A. Maclean, K.C., counsel for B. A. Securities and Arthur E. Haynes, who lost in the Supreme Court.

The case centres around the handling of the $100,000 estate of John Clayton, Bella Coola pioneer, and its investment and reinvestment in Victoria real estate and, on mortgages by the B.A. Securities and by Mr. Haynes as trustee.

Because it is believed the case will go to the Supreme Court of Canada no matter what the ruling of the Court of Appeal, the evidence has been printed in the required permanent form, making five volumes of 1,000 pages.

After the original judgment, the case was reopened and there was another hearing before Mr. Justice Fisher, who reaffirmed his position. J. W. deB. Parris, K.C., and Henry C. Hall, K.C., have charge of the case for the Clayton estate and heirs.

CLUB NAMES COMMITTEES

Kinsmen Appoint Standing Bodies to Care For Half-year's Programme

Energetic committees were appointed by the Kinsmen Club yesterday evening to care for the various sections of their programme when members of the club gathered for their regular dinner in the Empress Hotel.

Personnel of the different groups follow: Publicity, Ernest Dyson and Ernie Harris; speakers' committee, Vernon Ridgway and Alvin Bell; check sports, George Gurr, Donald Mcintosh and Ernie Peden; programme, Stanley Martin, Dr. Arthur Poyntz and Peter Balagoo; attendance and membership, Cecil Luckhart, Hugh Francis and Ronald Whittington; Sunshine (yacht) committee, Leslie Pritchard, Howard Tyrell and Maurice Kersey; house committee, Robert Mase, William Pasmore and Percy Rumball; music, Harry Hay, Alfred Food and Neville Mayers; Service Clubs' Council representatives, Vernon Ridgway and George Young.

INTERESTING ADDRESS
During the meeting the clubmen heard an interesting address by G. W. Lamplin, Toronto, formerly of the staff of the American School of Practiced, on "Footwear, Past and Future."

The structure of the Ethiopian foot and that of the Italian were described by the speaker in an interesting digression from his main theme.

He traced the history of footwear from the sandals of early Egypt, going back as far as 4,000 B.C., and followed developments up to 1856, when right and left footed shoes were adopted in European countries.

Modern trends aimed to give the correct body balance and posture by proper structure in the shoe, he noted.

CLOSING, he declared walking to be one of the best means of maintaining good health.

The question of entering two teams in the Service Clubs' Bowling League was discussed, and action deferred to a later meeting. It was decided to have the Gyro baseball team as guests at the next dinner of the Kinsmen Club.

Dr. Arthur Poyntz, past national president of the Kinsmen, was presented with a gold pin in recognition of his services during his term of office.

IMPROVED PLAN FOR SURFACING

An improvement in road surfacing next year was suggested to the Sanich Council by Leslie G. Scott, contractor, of Ward Three, at a meeting yesterday evening.

Mr. Scott came before the council at the request of Councillor A. G. Jambrick and explained the benefits which would accrue from using mixed-in-place asphalt instead of tar for surfacing work carried out every summer. The asphalt would cost $4.25 a yard, but would provide a permanent and indestructible surface. Tar costs a little more than $2 a yard.

Mr. Scott was asked to place his plan in writing for the further consideration of the council.

RELIEF RULING IS REAFFIRMED

The ruling in effect last year, dealing with allotment of work for Sanich relief workers on wet days during the winter, will stand during the coming season, the Sanich Council decided yesterday evening.

The council was approached by four relief recipients who had only been credited with a half day's work after reporting for work in both morning and afternoon last Friday. They had reported on instructions of the straw boss in the afternoon after he had sent them home in the morning.

The council felt there had been some misunderstanding on the part of the straw boss since the men should have received a full day after reporting in the afternoon.

A request from eleven parents of the Craigflower School area for a sidewalk or a safeguard measure for children attending the school who have to cross the Gorge Road just north of the Craigflower Bridge, was referred to the engineer for report by the Sanich Council yesterday evening.

TELLS CUSTOMS OF OLD CHURCH

Rev. A. West Humorously Describes Some London Activities

Some of the picturesque old customs connected with the Church of St. Dunstan, in the city of London, were described in interesting detail to members of the Rotary Club at their luncheon yesterday at the Empress Hotel by Rev. Arthur West, "Master Parson" of the church.

Mr. West is in Victoria in connection with the arrival of the first party of boys from England for settlement on the Cowichan farm of the Fairbridge School.

"I don't want you to think there is any narrow denominational note in the churches of the city of London," Mr. West said. "I have preschets of many denominations speak in my church. It's perfectly true they do not ask me back, but then, that is their loss."

His parish, the church of which is situated 240 yards from the Tower of London, and 200 yards from the Monument, covers an area of twelve acres. There are 20,000 people in the parish, he said. The endowments of the parish are $3,000 a year.

SPONSORS EDUCATION
He spoke of education as sponsored by St. Dunstan's-in-the-East. In the olden days the money was used for the distribution of the thirteen brown loaves and the thirteen threepenny bits to poor widows, "who lasted out the sermon." But now this money is spent on education, "so that people never need come on the dole."

There was a grammar school connected with the Church of St. Dunstan centuries before "an inferior place like Eton or even Winchester was even thought of," Mr. West humorously remarked. Once the Tunbridge School in Kent went to St. Dunstan for its headmaster. The school took the curate, he recalled.

Mr. West spoke of the magnificent beauty of the old churches in the city of London. The tower of his church, he said, "preaches a dashed better sermon than most parsons preach." He said his church is not open on Sunday, because there is no one in the city of London over the week-end.

BREAK THE SABBATH
"One of my claims," he said, "is that the business of the church is to be where the people are. It's our business to follow them, and not to get them to break the Sabbath by coming to us. God doesn't cease to be in his heaven just because it's a Monday, so we have services on week-days."

Mr. West told of the great Harvest Thanksgiving service which will be held at St. Dunstan the first Sunday in November when the Billingsgate fish merchants will decorate the church with thirty-nine different kinds of fish. From this service Guy's Hospital will benefit to the extent of 150,000 pounds of fish.

The speaker said he told journalists, who asked silly questions about this service, that the thirty-nine fish represented the thirty-nine articles and that the service was held the first Sunday in November because it was close to All Souls Day.

There is a coal exchange in the Parish of St. Dunstan, and there are services for the rubber merchants, the Customs House officers, the tea merchants and the coffee merchants.

"They are extraordinary people in the city," Mr. West said. "They work next to each other, but they never know each other."

"BRILLIANT GENTLEMAN"
Mr. West spoke of the Dean of Canterbury, who was "lovely to visit Victoria."

"I am sure the archbishop will be pleased if you welcome him and keep him," he said. "I have a great admiration for him, but I hope this club."

He had INDIGESTION
"For 6 years I was afraid to eat anything, for after meals the pain was terrible. . . I was told to try MACLEAN'S BRAND STOMACH POWDER, and felt the benefit from the first bottle. Now the pains have left me and I enjoy my food."

—MR. F.G.

START FLOWLINE WORK ON MONDAY

The city will start strengthening the flowline of the Goldstream water system, adjacent to Langford Lake, on Monday, it was decided at a meeting of the water committee yesterday. The work will cost in the neighborhood of $4,500 and $5,000, including $1,500 for materials and will consist of replacing and strengthening bands at various joints in the pipe to make leakage less and generally improve the line.

It was understood from Alderman Andrew McAvin, chairman of the committee, the project would be financed jointly by the city and the province on a fifty-fifty basis. The work is being pressed at present to allow the city to take advantage of roadwork now being carried on there and make its joint inspection without tearing up the highway.

One mile of the line will be handled this year, as a start on the entire system.

HAS SLEPT FOR THREE YEARS

Patricia Maguire, "Sleeping Beauty," Has Lain in Coma Since 1932

Chicago, Sept. 20.—Patricia Maguire, the modern "sleeping beauty," today ended her 1,313th day, a helpless victim of lethargic encephalitis, her condition neither better or worse.

As in the fairy tale the passing years have failed to leave their mark on the physical loveliness of the suburban Oak Park "sleeping beauty," who has suffered from a baffling illness for more than three and a half years.

Mrs. Peter Milley, the girl's mother, said "there has been no change for better or worse in Pat's condition in recent months." But you know the old saying: "Where there's life, there's hope," and Pat is still alive.

"And if you had to move her in bed when she didn't want to be moved, you would realize how strong she is."

"Pat seems younger in appearance than when she first became ill," her mother said. "In some ways she seems livelier. Her continued youthful, beautiful appearance is one of the things that have puzzled doctors."

A pretty, vivacious girl, Pat was back in 1932 before she, then twenty-seven years old, fell a victim on February 15 of that strange malady that has failed to respond materially to medical treatment.

Her birthday is April 1, and four anniversaries have passed since Pat, complaining of feeling so tired and sleepy, became ill.

Birched Girls in 'Good Old Days'

English Magazine of 1868 Says "20 to 50 Strokes Converts Wicked Nature Into Sweet One"; Corsets a Torture

London (By Mail).—The "good old days" were bad, wicked and cruel according to "Feminine Attitudes in the Nineteenth Century," a new book by Dr. C. Willet Cunningham, whose collection of eighteenth and nineteenth century dresses is famous.

Here is his picture of a girl in the sixties:

"Frustrated in her love-making by her prudish, severe elders, the girl of the 'sixties' was a wretched sex-starved person, who was taught that marriage was her only goal, but who was nevertheless haunted at every turn in acquiring a man's affections.

If it were not cruel to dissect these palpitating hearts, it would be easy to demonstrate the crude sexual urge hampered by unwholesome restraint until, in many cases, it became converted into definitely pathological forms."

Whippings for girls. The author also quotes from a lengthy correspondence in the "Englishwoman's Domestic Magazine" for 1868 on the question of "Ought we to whip our daughters."

Letters on this subject became so numerous that the magazine published a special monthly supplement to contain them!

Letters from victims as well as from mothers and schoolteachers supply precise details.

The methods used, says Dr. Cunningham, were strap, slipper or birch, but the birch was preferred as "causing the more exquisite pain."

"To convert a wicked and stubborn nature into a sweet and loving disposition," the number of strokes was twenty to fifty. . . all this "evidence of the tenderest love" was administered with assurances that it hurt the strikers more than the victim.

Corsets of torture. The book is not devoted solely to punishment. It throws a kindly light on the Victorian's beauty secrets, their clothes, manners, speech, food and amusements.

About the nineteenth century corset, especially, the author has much to say. He quotes from tradesman's letter of 1898:

"Women are unable to stand, sit or walk as they used to do; to expect one of them to stoop would be absurd."

My daughter Margaret made the experience the other day. Her stays gave way with a tremendous explosion and down she fell to the ground, and I thought she had snapped in two."

In contrast to those horrors the modern brief rubber "rolls-on" make 1935 seem a "golden age."

"TAN COMMANDMENTS." Instead of rules for punishment, doctors have issued rules for sunbathing and health.

The latest are the "Tan Commandments" drawn up by Dr. Charles P. Pabel, chief dermatologist of Greenpoint hospital, New York.

According to him, when it comes to sunbathing everyone is either a "heliophile" or a "heliophobe."

A person whose skin reddens, blisters and burns, but never tan, he says, is a "heliophobe." The people who tan easily without blistering are "heliophiles," and they are mostly olive-skinned brunettes.

Here are the doctor's "commandments":

1. Acquire a coat of tan, provided you are not a heliophobe.

2. Do not sleep on the beach in the direct rays of the sun.

3. Don't sit in the sun when the body is wet after bathing.

4. Don't go bareheaded in strong sunlight.

5. Don't read books or play cards in the direct rays of the sun.

6. Don't drink strong liquor while exposed to the summer sun; alcohol and sunlight do not mix.

7. Don't sprinkle perfume on the skin before exposure to the sun; severe inflammation of the skin may result.

8. Don't recline in strong sunlight after strenuous exercise.

9. Don't forget that blondes and brunettes react differently to the sun's rays; blondes burn more easily.

10. If your skin will redden, blister and burn, but never tan, you are a "heliophobe" and should not expose yourself, as every new exposure means a burn.

W.C.T.U. Wants Gambling Laws Tightened Up; Also Opposed to Cadet Training, Relief Camps, Harmful Movies and Liquor

Resolutions embracing a variety of subjects, including cadet training in schools, relief camps, beer and light wines in restaurants, harmful movies and gambling in any form, were passed by the provincial W.C.T.U. at its final session yesterday afternoon.

FOSTER'S WAR
The convention re-iterated its strong opposition to "every movement which has in it the element that fosters war, or has in it the actual germ of future war—cadet training in the schools, prejudicial nationalism in our educational system, profits out of armaments, and the spirit of financial greed which lies at the root of many abuses."

The W.C.T.U. will again affiliate with the League of Nations Society, it decided.

AGAINST GAMBLING
Opposition to any exception being made in the Criminal Code against gambling, such as relate to race track gambling, raffles, lotteries, etc., for religious, charitable, exhibition or patriotic purposes, was expressed in a strong resolution, which also called on the authorities to enforce strictly the laws to this effect on the statute books.

TEMPERANCE EDUCATION
A resolution was passed asking that the course of civics taught in the schools be enlarged to include the social, political and economic consequences of liquor.

In this connection Rev. R. J. McIntyre, secretary of the B.C. Temperance League, spoke of the material which had been submitted to the provincial government for suggested inclusion in the school text books. He commended the sympathetic interest shown by the Minister of Education in this matter, the meeting endorsing his commendation.

LIQUOR SALE
That we urge our government to cancel the privilege of delivery of liquor C.O.D. by telephone, to reduce the hours of sale, and favor a change in the Liquor Pledge Act making the electoral district the minimum area in which a plebiscite may be taken and the strict enforcement of law referring to minors and Indians frequenting places where alcoholic drinks are sold, and consuming liquor therein, was another resolution passed.

FILM CENSORSHIP
Exception was taken to the showing of films depicting drinking scenes, and stricter censorship was urged in another resolution.

Mrs. Spofford, during the discussion, suggested an appeal to the Christian churches in Canada to unite in denouncing undesirable films, as the Catholic Church had done in the United States. She also urged commendation of wholesome films.

Condemnation of the present relief camp system was contained in another resolution passed by the gathering.

Total prohibition of the liquor

CLUB PRIZES ARE PRESENTED
Women's Canadian Club Give Awards to School Classes To-day

Interesting little ceremonies took place this afternoon in several of the city schools, when executive members of the Women's Canadian Club presented the home economics prizes annually awarded by that body.

Each year the club presents a handsome silver tea service to the Grade Eight home economics class coming out top in the competition for the best made wash dress, the service to be held for one year, while twelve silver spoons are given as individual prizes to each class. This year Miss I. Gagnett's class in the Sir James Douglas School and Miss C. Martin's class in the George Jay school tied for first place with eighty-eight marks apiece, and will share the prizes.

Mrs. James Adam and Mrs. Alfred Carmichael visited the Sir James Douglas School to present the prizes, while Mrs. E. J. Willie, the president, and Mrs. Norman Baker officiated in a similar capacity at the George Jay School.

Miss Marjorie Peto's class, North Ward School, won the prize annually offered by the club for the best pyjamas and shorts made by Grades Seven. This prize consists of ten dollars' worth of books for the class, and a silver spoon to each girl. Mr. Harold Campbell and Miss Hosie presented these awards this afternoon.

Miss Alma Russell and Miss Marian Hoste were the conveners of the club's committee in charge of the arrangements.

News of Clubwomen

St. Martin's W.A.—St. Martin's Business Women's W.A. held their first meeting of the winter season at the home of Mrs. J. Frew, Walter Avenue. Plans and arrangements were made for the coming season, amongst which is a bazaar for the latter part of November in St. Martin's Hall. Mrs. G. Leggett was welcomed as a new member. The next meeting will be held on October 1 at the home of Miss M. Hasenfratz, Heath Drive.

Garden Tea Success—About a hundred guests attended the very enjoyable garden tea held at the home of Mrs. T. H. Laundry, Besse Drive, on Wednesday afternoon, in aid of the funds of the Church of Our Lord. Home cooking was sold by Mrs. F. Lupton and candy by the Misses Murray. Mrs. Cecil Laundry had charge of games, and flowers were supervised by Mrs. P. Shandley. Tea was served indoors from a prettily-appointed table.

Fairfield W.M.S.—The Fairfield W.M.S. held its monthly meeting in the social room of the church yesterday afternoon, with Mrs. E. E. Dent in the chair for the devotional period. Mrs. G. Piercy's circle was in charge and presented a questionnaire, which was answered through the "blue book." The following ladies took part: Mesdames Alfred Dowell, C. A. Fields, G. G. Green, L. K. Moon and E. G. Place. Miss C. Barlow was the soloist. Mrs. Green presided during the business session. A satisfactory financial statement was given. Plans for the October meeting, which will be held on October 31, so as to avoid conflicting with the church anniversary services, were made. This promises to be an unusual and interesting meeting, and the thank-offering will be received to celebrate the tenth anniversary of union. A social time was enjoyed, following the meeting.

MAKE GIFTS TO MOUNT VIEW

High School P.-T.A. Pay For Tennis Court; Offer $25 For Books

Resuming its activities after the summer vacation, the Mount View High School P.-T.A. held a very successful meeting yesterday evening. R. B. Prendergast presided and seventeen members were present.

The association sent a cheque for $380 to the Municipality of Saanich to pay for the surfacing of the first tennis court at the school, which was carried out under the supervision of H. H. Allen, municipal engineer. A letter was read at the meeting from W. G. Garner, the school principal, expressing the grateful appreciation of the teachers and pupils to the P.-T.A. for its generous gift of the tennis court.

The treasurer reported a balance of $29.56 in hand. The secretary was instructed to write to the school board offering to spend $25 on books for the school library, if the board would implement it with a similar donation, to enable the school board to take advantage of the government grant for this purpose.

Mrs. V. S. MacLachlan, Miss Beane and Mr. Prendergast were named a nominating committee to secure names of those willing to stand for election as officers and heads of committees at the annual meeting on October 17.

ANNIVERSARY AT TEMPLE MARKED

Informal Dinner and Entertainment Observes Dedication of Church Hall

The fourth anniversary of the dedication of the City Temple hall was observed yesterday evening with an informal banquet and entertainment attended by nearly 100 members of the congregation.

G. A. A. Hebdon, chairman of the board of management, was the chairman and spoke briefly. Mr. Hebdon noted expansion in the temple congregation during the last month and stated the experiment of the last seven weeks of having supply pastors take regular services was proving successful through the co-operation of numerous friends. He considered the temple prospects brighter now than they had been for some time.

Among those contributing to the entertainment were: Barbara Oakley, recitations; the "Jones Boys" orchestra and pupils of the Sonia Slavina Dancing Academy, led by Miss Jovita Bonnell and including Doris and Iris Brooks, tap dance; "Babs" Chambers, Mexican dance; Dolores Norman, Indian dance; and Olwyn Smirke, Hungarian dance.

Potential Mothers Are Now Tending Bar

Rev. E. R. Attebery of Seattle, in Address to W.C.T.U. Members, Tells of Conditions in United States Since Repeal

"Beer to the left of us. Beer to the right of us. Beer above us and below us. Beer behind us and in front of us. Beer, beer, beer and everything that goes with it. That is what is happening to-day all over the United States," declared Rev. E. R. Attebery, ardent young crusader in the cause of prohibition during a demonstrative address to members of the W.C.T.U., now in session here, at the Metropolitan Church yesterday evening.

In the United States, Mr. Attebery said, the people seem to have lost the ability to make a moral protest over the state of things as regards the liquor question.

"But when the new generation sees what is going on," he said, "and realizes what this new enemy is doing, it will take the flag and say 'we will go through hell and change things.' I don't believe you can force this issue," the speaker continued. "You mark my words. In the next decade we shall see the greatest crusade in the church's history since prohibition went into effect."

TEMPERANCE CRUSADE
"I'm not so sure about prohibition again, but we shall see drastic regulations. In my lifetime we shall see a great temperance crusade. Millions of the youth of the country will be in the legion. The crusade will not be confined to Canada or the United States, but it will be wider than ever before, when we all realize how we have been betrayed. We'll give that bunch the greatest licking they've ever had. Next time we will not be divided. We will fight them as one great army."

Mr. Attebery told of conditions as he had found them in Seattle since the repeal of prohibition. He said that at two out of every three weddings there was liquor and when people said to him, "What, don't you take a drink?" he told them he was a teetotaler as a matter of intelligence and good common sense. He said liquor dulled a man's mentality and he didn't know a single one of his friends who was any too sane.

"RAISE THE ANTE"

Mr. Attebery told of going to a bootleg establishment in Seattle just to see how things were run. He was in army uniform at the time, he explained, being chaplain for a certain Seattle corps. He knocked at the door and when the attendant saw the uniform he was admitted. He told of a bar, where "all sorts of things" were dispensed, and in answer to his inquiries about early closing of such places, the attendant told him it was a club. "Just raise the ante and you can do anything you want," Mr. Attebery was told.

There is more drunkenness in Seattle now than during the years of prohibition, Mr. Attebery stated. For seven years previous to repeal he said he never saw a dozen drunken persons in a specified area in Seattle.

"Fouth is now taking up the liquor habit," he said. "Millions are being spent in every channel to make them drink. Our beautiful young women are becoming bar tenders. Our potential mothers come in and dish out that damnable stuff. I am telling you what men who drink have told me. There is still some hope when the men say that."

SELL MORE LIQUOR

Mr. Attebery told of the great increases in the sale of liquor during the last eighteen months. He said the brewers on the Pacific Coast reported that August last was the greatest month for beer sales since 1917.

"If we do not have drastic regulations," he said, "there is only one alternative, and that is for a national government with a Socialistic policy to control the liquor and its advertising and give it to the people who must have it."

"We have personal liberty in the United States. We're free to drink ourselves to death if we want to."

He told of motor car accidents, in which intoxicated drivers were involved and said "they were free Yankees under the American flag. Four days out of six you have some expression of this personal liberty. All over the United States you have some state participating in the liquor traffic, and with all the evils bound up with the old type saloon. We are in a terrific state when we face the liquor habit. No state can give us statistics. When I stop to consider what has happened in our country I sometimes think I am living in a dream. It seems a nation which has forgotten religion and God. We don't need to kid ourselves at all."

PRODUCE DERELICTS

Mr. Attebery said the Christian temperance people in the United States were now aware that when they strike they must be together as one.

"My personal conviction is," he said, "that we will have to take time to produce enough derelicts to cause a mighty tidal wave. I think that we will have to go back into shambles before our people awake."

Mr. Attebery, who is State Director for Washington of the Department of Youth of the Anti-Saloon League, was introduced to the gathering by Mrs. J. A. Gillespie, president of the W.C.T.U., who acted for Mayor Leeming who was unable to attend. Rev. E. F. Church occupied the chair and Rev. James Hood asked the benediction on the meeting.

A pleasant musical programme was provided by Miss Phyllis Deaville who delightfully sang two numbers, and by George H. Green, cornetist. Edward Parsons accompanied both artists on the organ and played a number of selections before the meeting commenced.

The spinning-wheel contest first prize, a ham, was won by Miss A. Lacey; the second prize, a glass bowl, being won by Mrs. E. Sanders. Casson, Mrs. J. Randolph, and butter, Mrs. Hoy.

In the evening cards were played, winners being Mrs. J. Thomson and Mrs. J. Drummond. In the guessing contests, Mrs. A. James and Mrs. W. McPhee were the victors. The supper, served by Mrs. M. Nicol and Mrs. E. Garrett, brought the evening to a close. Mrs. Dailway was convener of the card tables. Mrs. G. Wise and Mrs. W. H. Dailway were general conveners.

A CHINESE WEDDING PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Lowe (the former Miss Mary Lim), are shown with their attendants, following their wedding which Rev. C. Chow solemnized last Saturday evening at the Lung Kong Lung Shau, Government Street. The hall was beautifully decorated with orange and white streamers and flowers, and after the ceremony a largely-attended reception was held for over 300 guests, the bride cutting the three-tier wedding cake. In the picture, from left to right, is: Helen Lowe, George Lowe, Mary Lee, the bridegroom and bride, Dan Won, Lily Lowe and Dorothy Lim. ## VIEWS DIFFER ON CANADA'S POSITION

Canadian Press

Calgary, Sept. 20.—Differing views on the obligations of the Dominions within the empire were voiced yesterday by two distinguished easterners, Prime Minister Bennett and Most Rev. J. A. Richardson, Archbishop of Fredericton, New Brunswick. They were guests at a service club luncheon and delivered brief addresses.

Archbishop Richardson deprecated the tendency of many Canadians to leave the burden of empire defence on the Motherland. "During the war," he said, "Canada stood on the platform of responsibility. Now we are in danger of standing on the platform of privilege." Democratic imperialism at its best was founded on patriotism. The bishop's viewpoint was that commonly held twenty-five years ago, the Prime Minister observed. The Motherland was still powerful and vigorous, but was "no longer the directive machine of our national life." Canada was in full control of its destiny, operating as a self-governing nation not responsible to Westminster.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

CHANGES IN BABY'S DIET SHOULD BE MADE SLOWLY

When it is desired to change the baby from one type of formula to another, it is best, in almost all cases, to make the change very slowly. A gradual change allows the baby's system to adapt itself to the unusual food, without stress or strain.

The breast fed baby who is about to be changed to cow's milk, does better at first on just one feeding a day of this. Then for a few days, or a week, this one feeding may be continued, at the end of which time cautious procedure may be continued until the baby loses its dependence on and desire for breast milk and is flourishing and contented on the new food.

SOLID FOODS
To end breast feedings abruptly would antagonize the baby, and might be a shock to his digestion as well. Sometimes such a step ends so unhappily as to necessitate a return to breast milk feedings.

These cautious changes in formulas, apply to solid foods as well. The introduction of cereal, vegetables, orange juice or cod liver oil in the diet, should be in teaspoonful amounts. One teaspoonful a day, then two, then three, until the ordinary amount which will satisfy and nourish the baby has been reached.

TRIVIAL REACTIONS
Sometimes, despite these careful changes, the baby may show some temporary and trivial reaction to the new food. Vegetables may show as undigested particles in the stools, cereal may cause constipation, baby may vomit a little of the food some time after eating.

If the new way of feeding is the ordinary one, and if the changes are in the end of benefit to the baby, one may ignore them and trust that such reactions will disappear after a few days.

TEMPORARY UPSET
After the temporary disturbance the baby will accept the new food and digest it without difficulty. If, of course, the upheaval is violent and immediate, it is better, perhaps, to stop the new food for a short time and then begin again with even more cautious amounts.

Our leaflet on "How to Introduce New and Nourishing Foods," discusses not only the order in which the new foods are added, but suggests the amounts and increases as well. All that is necessary to get this particular leaflet is a self-addressed and stamped envelope sent to Myrtle Meyer-Eldred care of the "Your Baby and Mine" department of this newspaper.

To-morrow: "Mrs. Eldred Tells How to Make Breakfast a Real Meal."

Twenty-five Years Ago To-day

SEPTEMBER 25, 1910

(From The Times Files)

Plans have been drawn up and approved, the contract practically awarded, and work will commence at a very early date on the new opera house which is to be built by a local syndicate on the lots facing on Government Street, just opposite the legislative buildings between Elliott and Superior Streets.

The adoption of a six months rate in advance for all water consumers, and the establishment of one common date for the payment for all local improvement instalments, are important recommendations made in the long awaited and eagerly anticipated interim report of John H. Bellwell of Vancouver, expert surveyor, engaged by Mayor Morley to conduct an investigation into the methods of civic accounting which was presented at last evening's meeting of the City Council.

It is expected that during the present autumn a number of elk, moose and other Canadian animals will be shipped on one of the big liners which call at this port outward bound. These are to go to New Zealand where great efforts are being made to acclimatize the big game of British Columbia and the near-by provinces.

At a meeting of the Navy League, Victoria and Esquimalt branch committee this evening, arrangements for a fitting reception to H.M.S. Rainbow, which is due to arrive at Esquimalt on November 7, will be discussed. It is expected that the matter will be dealt with at a further public meeting.

The Friendly Help Association is appealing for a cookstove, a double bed and a mattress for a family in needy circumstances, which is trying to establish a home. Anyone having such articles to donate is requested to telephone the headquarters, 67194.

W. H. Snell, convention manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway in Montreal, called at the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau this morning, and conferred with regard to the bringing of conventions to the city during the next twelve months.

A week's remand was granted Harry Winters, charged in the City Police Court this morning with assaulting G. A. Conroy and occasioning actual bodily harm. A plea of not guilty was formerly taken before Magistrate Jay, and the case was put over until the magistrate's return. Gordon A. Cameron appears for the defence.

Chu, merchant, and against Wong Sing and Low Noon, cordwood cutters, was ordered to-day by Judge Lampman, following the presentation of evidence called by Frank Higgins, K.C. counsel for Chu. The claim was based on a promissory note, and payments due on the purchase of a motor truck.

Charles Bland was sentenced to three months' imprisonment, with hard labor, when he pleaded guilty in the City Police Court this morning to a charge of being intoxicated. Two previous convictions of a similar nature this year were read against him, and his plea for another chance, because he had spent the last year in jail on account of drunkenness, was not heeded, the court imposing maximum sentence.

John D. Smith of the yacht 'Intrepid' was fined $25 in the Saanich Police Court yesterday when convicted of driving to the common danger on the Gorge Road. Frank T. Groome of Toronto, president of the Sight Saving Council of Canada, yesterday addressed a meeting of local optometrists at the Douglas Hotel.

Progressive destruction of human eyesight through intensive use of their eyes by working under improper lighting conditions, has forced individuals and corporations to band together in such groups as sight-saving councils, said Mr. Groome.

A recent survey had shown, he said, that the level of illumination in stores, hotels, churches, offices and factories in Vancouver was dangerously low. This was also true of the east. "People in Victoria are taking aspirin tablets to-day to cure bad lighting," said Mr. Groome, charging various common ills to poor lighting conditions.

NO CALIFORNIA FRUIT SHIPPED

Los Angeles Longshoremen Refuse to Load For British Columbia

A possible shortage in citrus fruits, grapes and other California products and vegetables looms on the market horizon as wholesalers reported this morning that they could not obtain any produce from Los Angeles.

The longshoremen in that city had refused to load any perishable goods for Victoria or Vancouver. Though they have supplies in stock, and have just received a carload of oranges, lemons, and grapefruit this morning, wholesalers were uncertain how long the embargo would last and pointed out the possibility of a shortage.

TO RETURN NEXT YEAR

Speakers at Metropolitan Life Dinner Predict Larger Congress

Determination to bring a larger and more representative delegation to Victoria next year was expressed by speakers at last night's dinner which brought to a close the business sessions of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company's sales congress.

Frederick J. Williams, third vice-president, presided at the dinner held in the ballroom of the Empress Hotel. Besides Mr. Williams, the speakers were: John H. Almy, superintendent of agencies, San Francisco; Dana D. Beardslee, manager of the public relations division, San Francisco; Glen Emery, Spokane; William Buckingham, Portland; Russell Crandall, Great Falls, Mont.; and Julius and Louis Cohn of Seattle.

Mr. Williams and Mr. Almy spoke of the wonderful time experienced by all the delegates while in Victoria, and registered appreciation of the cordial hospitality extended to them since the opening of the convention. The salesmen were urged to go back to their territories and qualify for a larger convention, which it was hoped would be held in this city next year with a representation from Montana, Oregon and Washington, of from 275 to 300 delegates.

In order to be able to participate in a sales congress of this character, the salesmen must qualify on production to the total of $100,000 worth of business for the year, in addition to holding a well-balanced record in industrial, weekly and monthly premiums, and also in accident and health business.

Mr. Almy commented on the obtained records and the life insurance business generally, stating in conclusion that he felt he could count on the congress meeting in Victoria next year.

Mr. Beardslee spoke on the relation of the agencies in connection with the use of printed matter.

The delegates left here this afternoon for Seattle and the south. From here the officials proceed to Del Monte, where 400 California salesmen will meet on Tuesday next. It will be the third of a series of divisional sales congresses on the Pacific Coast.

RETIREMENT IS PRESAGED

Ald. P. R. Brown, Present Acting Mayor, Expected to Leave Civic Lists

ALDERMAN P. R. BROWN

Withdrawal of Alderman P. R. Brown from public life for a year or so was presaged in an announcement made by him at the City Hall to-day.

"The chances are that I'll not be running at all at the next elections. I plan to drop out of public life for a year or so," the alderman, now acting mayor, stated.

Alderman Brown gave as the reason for his decision the pressure of private business and the need for safeguarding his health, which was not particularly good during the early part of this summer.

He had no intentions of seeking the mayor's chair, he added. Alderman Brown has served for eight years on the City Council, going to that body following a term of four years on the School Board.

Since his election to the council, Alderman Brown has been chairman of the finance committee up to the early part of this summer when he retired from that post owing to ill health. He has been instrumental in transacting several deals which have resulted in financial gains for the city and has kept in intimate touch with the city and the outside as well.

During both the Pender and Leeming regimes he has been regularly summoned to hold the post of acting mayor.

FUNERAL SATURDAY

Funeral services for John Sayers Stewart, 749 Audley Street, who passed away suddenly on Wednesday, will be held to-morrow afternoon at 2.30 o'clock at the Thomson Funeral Home. Rev. F. W. McKinnon will officiate and the remains will be laid to rest in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

TO CALL BIDS ON BUILDINGS

Plans Approved For Naval Structures; Marine Block Tenders Soon

Tenders are expected to be invited shortly for the construction of the new drill hall and office building in the grounds of the naval dockyard at Esquimalt.

The plans, prepared by K. B. Spurgin and Hubert Savage, local architects, have been approved by Ottawa. It is understood, and the work will go ahead as soon as the specifications have been approved by the government.

The cost of the two naval buildings is expected to approximate $100,000. Bids are also expected to be called in the immediate future for the Marine Building, to be erected at the corner of Wharf and Broughton Sts., under the federal public works programme.

The architects for the latter project will be J. H. Macdonald, J. C. Elwood Watkins and J. Graham Johnson of this city.

ASSOCIATION TO CARRY ON

Friendly Help Welfare Body to Continue Work Indefinitely in City

Decision to carry on the Friendly Help Welfare Association indefinitely, largely as a social service organization furnishing incidental relief to families under its social service scope, was reached at a special meeting of that association to-day.

The work would be financed solely by public donation, Mr. E. Winslow, president, stated. "We will not approach the city again for financial assistance," he added.

Owing to the fact the city had taken over much of the work formerly done by the association the staff would be reduced to four members, some of whom would be on part time only, Mr. Winslow said.

No More Delay, Judge Orders

Application for postponement from October 10 to November 10 of the $30,000 suit of Parfitt Bros. contractors, against the Victoria Cold Storage Company, operators of the plant at Ogden Point, was rejected to-day by Judge Lampman.

W. F. D. Maunsell, counsel for the company, asked for another month's time because J. W. Dell, Parfitt Bros. counsel, for the French-Canadian bondholders, was trying to negotiate a settlement.

D. S. Tait, counsel for the Parfitts, opposed any further adjournments. "The Parfitts have the whole of their working capital tied up there and are naturally anxious to have some decision," said Mr. Tait, pointing out that the case had originally been set down for hearing last June.

"People ought to be able to make up their minds as to whether they are going to settle or have a trial," said Judge Lampman. "You can't keep people waiting for months. It seems to me this case was before me three or four years ago. I can see no reason for adjourning it further. I am anxious to accommodate Mr. Parfitt, but he gives no indication as to when he will be ready."

WILL CONSIDER BOWKER CREEK

The scheduled meeting to consider improvement of Bowker Creek to relieve the flood menace in the Hazel town area and other sections through which it passes, will not be called for a week or ten days, it was announced by Alderman P. R. Brown, acting mayor, to-day.

Further details were required by the city engineer before he could bring in recommendations on the question, Alderman Brown stated.

Several weeks ago, delegates of Victoria, Saanich and Oak Bay met to consider setting a grade for the creek to make the flow smoother and reduce the chances of flooding. At that time it was understood they would gather again shortly, set a grade and decide what they would start work on the project. The scheme has been subjected to many delays, however, and action will not be discussed for another week or ten days.

CHECK UP ON POLL TAXES

In a drive to collect road and poll taxes from those who have been delinquent in meeting their levies this year, Norman Lord, in charge of the collections in the city to-day started mailing notices to all from whom the tax may be levied who have not yet paid it.

With the exception of property owners and license holders and certain other cases in which exemptions may be claimed, all citizens of mature age are liable to the tax. To insure having their names on the voters' list, those other than property owners were advised to make sure they had met the current year's taxes, or to put in claims for exemptions.

Winter Functions Planned By Tourist Trade Development Association

After its initial season, which was pronounced success the dismantling of the Inner Harbor "Show Boat," erected by the Tourist Trade Development Association for the winter, commenced yesterday.

Harold B. Elworthy, manager of the Island Tug and Barge Company, announced that the superstructure would be stored free of charge by his company until next summer and the rental of the scow will also be remitted for September owing to several concerts having been cancelled due to poor weather.

HEALTH OFFICER ON JOINT MISSION

On a joint mission, to attend the annual meeting of the British Columbia Medical Association and to check up in Vancouver on the small-pox question, Dr. Richard Felton, city medical health officer, left the city for the mainland this afternoon.

His chief interest in the medical association gathering, Dr. Felton said before leaving, lay in an open discussion scheduled this evening on state health insurance.

He will also investigate certain reports from Vancouver over skin diseases and will compare them with recent mild cases of smallpox in this city.

Dealing with the three local cases, Dr. Felton stated one, a maid at the Jubilee Hospital, had been released from the Isolation Hospital on Wednesday and the other two, quarantined at home, would be freed next Tuesday. There were no further cases reported in the city, he added.

LIVED ON LINER TO MAKE PICTURE

A full three weeks at sea aboard a liner, was spent by Lewis Milestone and the cast of "The Captain Hates the Sea" making the exterior sequences of the screen adaptation of the famous Wallace Smith novel, showing Monday next at the Columbia Theatre.

During their time at sea, Victor McLaglen, John Gilbert, Helen Vinson, Fred Keating, Wynne Gibson, Alison Skipworth and other members of the large cast, with some forty-five extras and a full production crew, lived aboard the liner, and many of them did not set foot ashore during the entire period. The ship anchored each evening in Long Beach Harbor, pulled up the anchor early each morning and cruised in adjacent waters all day long.

EVERY PLAY HAS MEANING

Partner's Drop of High Card on Good Trick Tells Player Next Move That Defeats Contract

By WM. E. MCKENNEY

Fine bridge players do not waste cards, even unimportant ones. Every play should convey some message to partner which will help him to count distribution or place high card strength. Sometimes the messages are hard to detect, but good defensive play is based on the ability to transmit and decipher them correctly.

At times it is possible, as with telegraph wires, to send two messages simultaneously, and the receiver must differentiate between them and select the right one. To-day's hand illustrates a message which might have a double meaning, and only an expert could be depended upon to interpret it correctly.

THE PLAY
North knew from the bidding that his side could not take more than one heart trick, so he opened the queen in the hope that he might hold the lead. If successful, he could have a look at the dummy, and might then make a lead to the second trick which would be helpful to his partner.

This would probably be North's only opportunity to lead, so he should try to use it to best advantage.

Dummy's singleton jack of hearts was played, and South played the ten spot. Ordinarily, this play would call for another heart lead, but this would scarcely be possible in view of the singleton in dummy.

North knew that his partner was not in the habit of making meaningless plays, and he must have had a definite purpose in playing the ten of hearts. It did not call for a heart lead, then what other meaning might it have?

Since North could think of no other plausible excuse for the play, he correctly could be depended upon to interpret it correctly.

SOUTH'S HAND
SOUTH HAS THE CONTRACT AT THREE NO TRUMP. THE OPENING LEAD IS THE DEUCE OF CLUBS. HOW SHOULD SOUTH PLAY THE HAND?

"INFERNO" AT THE DOMINION

Stirring Drama With Spencer Tracy and Claire Trevor Opens Here To-day

"Dante's Inferno," which is now at the Dominion Theatre.

Ten million sinners writhing in eternal torment, labyrinthine torture chambers, rain of fire, lakes of flame, and craters of doom make "Dante's Inferno" timely as to-day's news and eternal with its challenging truths.

Dante Alighieri's "Divine Comedy," the greatest of all literary classics, is pictured in the most astounding spectacle ever attempted in theatrical history, but it is not the principal burden of the story. It serves to express a modern theme.

The story tells of a modern transgressor, played by Spencer Tracy, who starts as a stoker on a ship and rises to a position of wealth and affluence by chicanery and trickery.

He builds a fortune around an amusement concession depicting the horrors of the "Inferno" and launches a floating palace of pleasure, a gambling ship.

Tracy's wife, played by Claire Trevor, leaves him when he shows his true colors, but after one of the most spectacular climaxes in modern drama, she returns to him—after he has learned his lesson.

"Dante's Inferno" was produced for Fox Film by Sol M. Wurtzel and directed with unusual adeptness by Harry Lachman.

Also being shown as the second feature is Joan Blondell in "We're in the Money."

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE

Attorneys got a break in pictures when the big courtroom scene was filmed in "Evelyn Prentice," the new William Powell-Myrna Loy co-starring vehicle produced by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer to-day at the Playhouse Theatre.

A "legal staff" of six attorneys worked for several days, rehearsing players, supervising technical details on the set, and going over the script, particularly the sensational argument made by Powell to the jury.

"The address," explains Powell, "had to be dramatic, to say certain things and, of course, as it is a legal climax, it had to be the closing argument."

COLUMBIA THEATRE

"Girl in Danger," the film which brings back Ralph Bellamy as Inspector Trent, is now being shown at the Columbia Theatre. Common sense is interwoven with justice in bringing about a thrilling climax.

Shirley Grey plays opposite Ralph Bellamy as the spoiled child of society. Others in the cast are J. Carroll Nash, Charles Sabin, Vincent Sherman, Arthur Hohl, Ward Bond, Robert Allen, Francis McDonald and Ed Le Saint.

Harlow, Gable To Play Here

Three of filmland's most brilliant stars add to their laurels in the spectacular production, "China Seas," which opens to-morrow at the Capitol Theatre.

The stars are Clark Gable, Jean Harlow and Wallace Beery, together again for the first time in almost five years.

And it is a stirring story of adventure and romance, a story that teems with lusty action and abounds with strange emotional qualities that brings them together.

The locale is, perhaps, the strangest reasoned that the drop of an unnecessarily high card called for a diamond lead in preference to clubs, the higher of the unbid suits. Therefore, he led a diamond at trick two, which his partner ruffed with the deuce of spades, defeating the contract one trick.

With any other lead, the slam contract could have been made easily. If South had bid clubs, West's contract would have switched to a club.

This play may seem almost fantastic to the casual player, yet it is not beyond reasoning power of our leading masters. Such inferences are constantly being exchanged between expert partners, and their variations are limited only by the capacity of the human mind.

War Threat Skids Prices Lower On Wall Street. Mart

Associated Press
New York, Sept. 20.—War clouds, combined with technical factors, put the stock market on a downward slide today for losses ranging, at the worst, from 1 to around 5 points.

Selling was the heaviest in the morning when the ticker tape dropped several minutes behind floor transactions. The deluge was stemmed later and extreme declines were checked and pared. The close was weak. Transfers approximated 2,200,000 shares.

While the European confusion was blamed principally for the day's washout, brokers pointed out that, because of the lengthy and rapid advance, a correction had been long overdue and its severity was not surprising to most financial circles.

Foreign bonds and secondary corporation loans ran a close second to equities, but British and Canadian equities were fairly steady in the face of heavy losses of other markets. Grains fell back under profit taking and cotton was a little better than even.

Among the more active share casualties were U.S. Steel, American Telephone, General Motors, Chrysler, General Electric, Westinghouse, American Can, Du Pont, Johnson & Johnson, Pullman, Liggett and Myers, B. Western Union, Consolidated Gas, Radio, Seaboard Oil, Montgomery Ward, Sears, Roebuck, Santa Fe, N.Y. Central, U.S. Smelting and Refining, and American Express. The Electric Boat, which got up a point, the coppers were about even.

INDUSTRIALS PRICES SLUMP

Canadian Press
Winnipeg, Sept. 20.—Bullish sentiment cooled after wheat had sold for one dollar a bushel on the Winnipeg grain exchange to-day, and future prices at the close were 1/4 to 1/2 cent lower, October at 94 1/2, December 95 1/2, and May 96 1/2 cents.

World-wide reaction from days of advancing prices set in to-day. A brief flurry at the opening, when the May option was quoted momentarily at $1, the first time that level had been reached since August 9, 1934, was the market's only feature.

Options generally were quiet. Export sales were estimated at not more than 500,000 bushels. Liverpool closed 1/4 lower to 1 1/4 higher, and Buenos Aires at noon was 1 1/2 cents higher.

Cash grain trading was quiet, with spreads easing fractionally. Coarse grains futures declined with wheat. Rye was off more than a cent.

Men Must Understand Wives Are Not Servants
Says Personal Liberty Has No Place in Your Home

NO OTHER ONE THING would do so much to promote domestic happiness as for husbands and wives to regard each other as human beings, out of the same bolt of cloth as themselves, stamped with the same patterns of likes and dislikes, passions and desires.

Strangely enough, they rarely seem able to do this. They do not think of each other as brother and sister. On the contrary, they assume that they belong to different species of animals, with no more in common than the carnivorous lion and the grass-eating sheep, and with as different habits and points of view as a mountain lion and a deep-sea fish.

This brings about many of the disasters of marriage and causes husbands and wives to inflict grievous wrongs upon each other. And it explains why so many good men and women who have good husbands and wives, doubtless most husbands and wives who make marriage a hell on earth to their mates could plead in extenuation of their crime that they did not realize the wrong they were committing. They knew that they themselves could not stand the brutality the tyranny, the injustices, the little cruelties they were imposing upon their husbands or wives, but they thought that the husbands and wives were as different that they would not resent ill-treatment.

As an illustration of this you can take the fact that men universally believe that women enjoy being slaves, and that they like to be bossed about as if they were morons who did not have enough sense to decide any subject for themselves. Every man knows that the thing that is most precious to him in all the world, the thing that he would fight for and die for, is his personal liberty. He knows that he would be perfectly miserable if he had to ask anyone's permission to buy a new necktie, or to go to see his mother, or join a club.

Yet men who really love their wives and want to make them happy impose this servitude upon them. There are plenty of married women whose husbands are jailers and who have no more freedom of action than if they were locked up in a cell. Their husbands buy their clothes for them, they order every item on the grocery bill, open and read their letters and settle every matter that comes up in life according to their taste and not their wives.

It is the same way about money. The average American husband isn't stingy to his wife. He is generous to her. But it like pulling his eye teeth for her to get an allowance from him. And this is just because he can't understand that financial independence is as necessary to her self-respect as it is to his. He couldn't endure to go to even the most liberal of fathers every morning and ask him for carfare and cigarette and lunch money. He would loathe himself if he had to flatter and fawn and resort to wiles and skulduggery in order to wheedle a new suit of clothes out of father.

But it never occurs to him that his wife is humiliated into the ground when she has to scrimp and beg for a quarter, please sir, for a poor woman, and that she hates him every time he degrades her by making her practice the wiles and wiles of a courtesan to get some of the money she has earned by her own work as cook and housekeeper.

And look at the debonair way in which men ask women who are following successful careers to give them up in order to marry them. No man who was winning fame and fortune doing the work he wanted to do and in which he found perpetual excitement and joy would be willing to give it up and retire to private life just to please a woman who wanted to possess all of his time and interest.

But a man doesn't hesitate to ask a woman to scrap her career for him, to throw away all of the long years of work she has spent in perfecting herself for it, and to shut the door on her ambitions. He expects her to accept his budget the grocery bill than handle a big deal, and that she prefers the sound of sizzling pork chops to the applause of the multitude.

And in no other way can you explain the philandering of husbands except that they think that wives don't resent their unfaithfulness as husbands resent their wives'. No husband forgives his wife for the things that he expects her to forgive him. He expects her to turn her eyes to little affairs for which he would drag her into the divorce court.

Of course, no man would stand for his wife running around with a handsome young sheik making him an object of pity or a laughing stock to all who know him, but he doesn't see why his wife should make scenes over his stepping out with a platinum blonde flapper and spending on her the money that is needed for the children's shoes.

And wives have as little understanding that their husbands have the same reaction to things that they have. A woman, for example, never thinks of her husband loving his children as much as she does, or else there would be fewer women who break up their homes and tear their children out of their fathers' arms for inadequate reasons. Women do not understand that men are just as heart-broken and crave as much tokens of affection and words of appreciation as they do.

Women do not understand that men get just as tired as they do and have just as many nerves, and that they want to be petted and babied out of their tantrums, even as they do, and that the way to get along with them is to treat them just as they would like their husbands to treat them.

For male and female He created them, but He gave them the same human nature.

Uncle Wiggily Sends His Love

By HOWARD E. GARIS

In Woodland, near the Orange Ice Mountain, where Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow, the animal boys and girls were just the same, in many ways, as the boys and girls of the human world. They played the same games and did the same sort of tricks.

Perhaps you may have written on the sidewalk, the fence, the side of the house or on a large stone something like this: "Peter loves Alice," or "Mary loves John." Real boys and girls often write such jolly little love messages in fun or to tease their playmates.

Well, the animal boys and girls near Uncle Wiggily's bungalow used to do the same thing. More than once as he hopped here and there to find an adventure, Mr. Longears would see scrawled with chalk on some flat stone message like these: "Sammy Littleall loves Jennie Chipmunk," Jackie Bow Wow loves Nannie Wagtail the goat, Nurse Jane loves Uncle Wiggily."

"Hoi! Hoi! Hoi!" laughed the rabbit gentleman when he read that little message about his muskrat lady housekeeper loving him. "I'm glad she does," he said, twinkling his pink nose. "I love Nurse Jane, too, and I love the strawberry longears she makes and her apple dumplings and I love my wife and I love all the girls and boys. I love everybody," said jolly Uncle Wiggily. Then he stopped laughing and thought a moment and then he said:

"No, I'm wrong. I don't love everybody. I don't love the Bad Chaps, the Fox, the Wolf and the Bob Cat. I just can't love them and I hope none of the children write on a stone that I do, for I don't." So Uncle Wiggily hopped on and on, seeing here and there more chalked messages about Mr. Stubbish, the big bear, loving ice cream cones and Mr. Twirltail, the fat pig gentleman, loving sour milk. Then, all of a sudden on a flat stone, in the woods, the rabbit gentleman saw written in red chalk a message like this:

"The Bob Cat loves Uncle Wiggily." "Oh, ho! That's true enough," said the rabbit gentleman, growing brave and bold. "Well, if that's your love for me, I hope I don't love him in any way. So I hope I don't meet him to-day. I wonder who wrote this about the Bob Cat?" He went on Mr. Longears. "It doesn't look like the writing of one of the children. I wonder who wrote it?"

BOB CAT WROTE IT
"I did," a voice suddenly mewed in the bushes. "I wrote that message on the stone, Uncle Wiggily. And I love you so much I'm going to eat you!" With that, out of the bushes popped the Bob Cat. "Oh, dear! Oh, no! Please don't eat me!" begged the bunny gentleman. "Please don't!"

"Yes, I shall! I love you," mocked the grinning, mewing Bob Cat. "It's written on the stone, my love is."

Then, all of a sudden, shouted the rabbit gentleman growing brave and bold. "Well, if that's your love for me, I hope I don't love him in any way. So I hope I don't meet him to-day. I wonder who wrote this about the Bob Cat?" He went on Mr. Longears. "It doesn't look like the writing of one of the children. I wonder who wrote it?"

"Oh, wow!" howled the Bad Chap, turning to run away.

"Here is some more of my love!" shouted the rabbit, throwing another stone which also hit the Bob Cat. "I'll send my love to the Fox, and I'll send my love to the

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel."

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 21, 1935

Mingled good and evil planetary influences are discerned to-day, according to astrology. Castigation is recommended, as adverse aspects appear to dominate.

Mars is powerful as the Bull enters Libra this month and there is likely to be confusion regarding public affairs. But steady aims among educators will be evident as they prepare youth for supreme world experience.

Neptune is in a place precluding movements of battleships and much interest in naval affairs and coast fortifications.

Many accidents are forecast and large numbers of people will be injured in the end of the year, astrologers foresee industrial mishaps will increase despite safety precautions.

Robberies and sabotage are likely to be numerous as desperate men feel the need of money and relief methods change. Again there is warning to safeguard homes.

Unemployment in Central Europe will lead to serious consequences in the winter. Aid from the United States will be solicited.

In this country extremes will be increasingly evident in conditions where wealth will be exhibited in the pages of society and poverty will be painfully apparent. The seeds declare that real relief must lie in small communities through neighborly interest.

Persons whose life it is to have the augury of a year of prosperity in which domestic problems may be prominent. For the young this means courtship and marriage.

Children born on this day probably will be clever and resourceful. Subjects of this sign of Virgo are on the cusp and partake of Libra characteristics.

John Louderman, engineer, 1794, celebrated this day as a birthday.

COMOX FALL FAIR HELD

Storm Lessens Flower Exhibit, But Other Displays Excellent

Special to The Times
Courtenay, Sept. 20. — Fine cattle, vegetable and flower sections featured the Comox district annual fall fair with large crowds in attendance. Sunday's storm reduced the display of flowers considerably, but some very fine blooms were on display.

The domestic science section, while excellent, lacked keen competition. "The best exhibition of fruit and vegetables on the island," said T. J. Gould of Nanaimo, who judged the exhibits. The showing of potatoes was better than for some years past, the display being reminiscent of the days when Comox potatoes were prize winners against the best in the province.

The prize list follows:

WHEN BELGIUM sought a design for a stamp by which it could aid its poor children, no better subject could be found than that of the three children of King Leopold III. Their picture was placed on the stamp designed to aid the Royal Charity Society, in 1933.

Princess Josephine Charlotte, seven, is the oldest of the three. Next comes Crown Prince Baudoin, Prince of Brabant and heir to the throne. He is five. The third child is Prince Albert, who was born on June 6, 1934.

The queen mother, who recently met death in an auto accident in Switzerland, was the beautiful Astrid, daughter of the King of Sweden's brother and descendant of Marshal Bernadotte, whom Napoleon made King of Sweden more than a century ago. She had wedded King Leopold III in 1926.
